NO. 11,052 10TH YEAR — COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1911 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

PROTESTS MAY KANSAS GIVES STOP ALL PAVING

Vigorous Objections Raised by Property Owners at Council Meeting.

MAY BE SESSION TODAY

Street Car Co., International Realty and Individuals Against Improvement.

Vigorous protests against the proposed street paving of the downtown district were made by large property owners at meetings of the City Council yesterday morning and afternoon, and as a result it is feared that the much-needed improvement, which was thought to be a foregone conclusion, may have to be abandoned. The Council will consider the matter again at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The International Realty company and the Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company, both Stratton interests, protested against any paving. Dunbar F. Carpenter, representing property owners on Cascade avenue, and Attorney F. L. Sherwin, representing property owners on Platte avenue, asked for oiled streets instead of paving; R. S. Ellison, on behalf of property holders on East Pikes Peak avenue, asked that center parking be eliminated from the improvements on Pikes Peak avenue between Nevada and the Santa Fe depot; Susan L. Johnson and Jessie R. Thorne, holders on East Kiowa street, protested against paving in front of their property.

May Withdraw One Petition.

As to the holdings of the Carpenter family, Dunbar F. Carpenter entered a formal protest against all paving, but said that if the Cascade avenue paving is eliminated, he will withdraw this protest.

Attorney W. J. Chinn, representing the street car company, contended that the franchise of 1890, under which the company operates all its lines in the paving district, except that portion between Pikes Peak and Huerfano on Nevada, is a contract and is in nowise different from a contract between two individuals. This franchise states that the street railway company must keep in repair the street between the tracks and for a distance of two feet on each side.

The ordinance, which provides that the street railway company bear with the property holders the cost of street paving, is therefore, according to Chinn, in violation of the terms of the franchise. In addition, Chinn also contended that assuming the Council could compel the street railway company to bear the assessment for the actual paving of the streets, it could not authorize the assessment for parking.

Central Trust's Position.

Judge C. D. Hayt of Denver talked for the Central Trust company of New York, whose interests he asserted are jeopardized by the paving ordinance. According to Judge Hayt, the trust company holds bonds of the street car company to the sum of $1,500,000. By making an assessment on the company for paving purposes, the city places a lien on the bonds, and this lien hazards the sale of the bonds, according to his argument.

Judge Hayt also protested against the proposed paving on the ground that the ordinance is not valid. He reviewed the history of the supreme court decisions in such matters, which he asserted, points to but one conclusion, that a property holder can not be assessed for improvements which do not increase the value of his property.

In the instance of a street railway company, he asserted, street paving does not add to the value of its holdings, but rather decreases their value in that more people will walk when the street are well paved than would otherwise be the case. In summing his arguments he said it must be shown that street paving would increase the value of the holdings of the street railway company before the corporation

Catch Thief and Regain Valuable Diamond Rings

Quick work was done by the detective force last night, when, in just an hour after they were notified of the theft of two diamond rings, valued at more than $500, they had both the rings and the thief in their custody.

At 8:30 o'clock H. Cook, a tourist, boarding at 221 East Third street, reported the theft of two diamond rings from a trunk in his room. He had left the trunk unlocked and returned from supper to find the diamonds missing.

At 9:20 o'clock the detectives captured, with the diamonds in his possession, Roy Struble, a chauffeur, who rooms at the same house. One of the rings regained by Cook is a family heirloom and is especially valued by him on this account.

SEVERAL TOWNS REPORT WATER SHORTAGE.

Heat Centers in Jayhawker State and in Missouri Wave Breaking.

KANSAS, July 5.—New hot weather marks for the year were established in the southwest today, but tonight a promise of a thunder shower is given by the local weather bureau.

At Junction City, usually the hottest city in Kansas, the mercury climbed to the torrid mark of 113 today. The highest temperature registered there this year until today was 110. Some other record-breaking temperatures in Kansas were:

Emporia, 111; Salina and Lindsburg, 108, and Topeka 107. Wichita's temperature was 100.

The highest temperature reported from Oklahoma, came from Muskogee, it being 107, a year's record. At Oklahoma City the temperature reached 103.

Seven persons died and 30 were prostrated as a result of a 104 temperature here. That is the high mark for the year. Sedalia, Mo., too, experienced a "hottest day." The temperature was 106½. Although there was no rain here, at Overland park, 10 miles southwest of this city, two inches of rain fell and a high wind played havoc with small buildings an trees.

Large Rivers Drying Up.

In Kansas many of the large rivers, among them the Verdigris are drying up, and cities which depend upon them for water supply are facing an almost unprecedented water famine. In Coffeyville, the water supply is virtually exhausted and the city officials have forbidden the sprinkling of lawns. The two ice plants which depend on the Verdigris river for water may be forced to close down, as may be also all the large manufacturing plans in the town.

In Emporia and several other towns the situation is similar and ordinances have been passed prohibiting the use of city water except when ecessary.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 5.—Reports from many parts of Kansas tonight indicate that the long drouth is about to be broken. Light rains fell in different parts of southern Kansas early this evening and shortly after 10 o'clock tonight rain began falling here. Heavy clouds are hovering over this section.

Hot Wave Is Breaking.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The hot wave is breaking. Although temperatures in some localities were above 100 and are as high, if not higher, than yesterday, the torridity is about to be dissipated, according to the weather bureau experts.

The middlewest, especially beyond the Mississippi valley still is in the grip of the hot wave, but cooler weather is expected there within the next 24 hours. Weather bureau officials took an optimistic view of the situation and held out promise for early relief.

There was much suffering here today, the temperature on the street reaching 104.5 although the weather bureau gave the official temperature as 98. Three persons are dead. There were many prostrations.

Reports received from eastern and Atlantic coast states show a decided fall in temperature in the last 24 hours. Boston, which sweltered at 104 yesterday, found relief today when the

[illegible] ANARCHISM

IONIA, Mich., July 5.—Fire today destroyed the dining room and kitchen building of the state prison for insane criminals, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. The building also contained the hospital and bakery.

The fire got beyond control of the prison fire brigade, but the city department soon extinguished the blaze.

Many of the prisoners became panic-stricken and their cries for help filled the air, although at no time were they in danger.

[illegible] AMENDMENT ELECTION FRAUDS

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Means for the prevention of fraud or corruption in the election of Representatives to Congress were proposed in two bills introduced today by Representative Powers of Kentucky, once a conspicuous figure in his state's gubernatorial election troubles.

In one bill Mr. Powers proposes a fine of from $1,000 to $3,000, or from one to three years imprisonment, for intimidation of voters at any primary or general election, for the use of money or for threats in securing votes. A second bill provides that there be created a commission of the House of Representatives consisting of three civilians to investigate all elections.

WAR MUTTERINGS

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 5.—Preparations have been completed for the mobilization of Turkish troops because of the refusal of rebellious Albanians to surrender and the activity of Montenegrin forces along the frontier.

Government officials continue optimistic of an ultimate peaceful outcome. They assert that the Montenegrin government is bluffing. The recall of the Turkish minister at Cettinje is considered not improbable.

MAY BE MOB AT ROCK FORD TONIGHT

Governor Wires Sheriff to Prevent Lynching of Rocky Ford Slayer.

DENVER, July 5.—Governor Shafroth, who is at Estes Park, wired Sheriff Harris of Otero county, at Rock Ford today, telling him to use every means to prevent the lynching of Robert Harris, a negro who killed Chief of Police J. B. Craig and dangerously wounded Night Watchman Jacob Kipper last night. Posses are on Harris' trail.

J. D. Harkless, colored, an employe in the office of the secretary of state is at the head of the arrangements committee for the National Negro Educational congress, whose sessions will open in Denver, August 12, next. Harkless and his friends declare that should there be a lynching of a negro in Colorado at this time the congress will be a failure. He succeeded in getting the ear of the governor on the telephone this morning and at his request the governor sent the telegram. Adjutant General Cosse also has been notified and if necessary the military will be employed to prevent Harris receiving his death at the hands of a mob in the event of his capture.

Harris Evades Capture.

ROCKY FORD, Colo., July 5.—Three hundred and fifty deputized citizens of Otero, besides many volunteers today searched the countryside for Bob Harris, the negro slayer of Chief Craig, and who seriously wounded Night Marshall Jacob Kipper. But the fugitive seems to have disappeared like magic.

It was discovered that Harris lay hidden for hours under his house where the shooting occurred last night in an attempt to arrest him. Bloody fingerprints on the back of the buildings and pieces of newspaper with which he had wiped the blood from his hands, found today, established this fact.

Reports were received here today of a strange negro being seen at different points of the county, and armed men in automobiles sped in haste to the points only to find that the suspect had disappeared.

Harris' mother, father and sister, arrested after the killing last night, were taken to La Junta for safe keeping today. While feeling is high against Harris, it is thought that the desire of the people vigorously expressed last night for summary punishment has tempered.

Eva Harris of Pueblo, another sister of Harris, arrived here today and went to the Harris home. Officers who went to arrest her were compelled to knock her down before she would submit.

OKLAHOMA WELL AFIRE

TULSA, Okla., July 5.—What is said to be the greatest oil well ever struck in Oklahoma, is on fire and oil is burning at the rate of 150 barrels an hour. The fire started from a lantern carried by A. R. Timbling, a lease employe. He was instantly killed by the explosion.

The well is in the Osage nation and is the property of the Northwestern Oil company. The loss is already heavy and all efforts to extinguish the flames have so far proved futile.

LEMONADE AT PICNIC MAKES 70 PEOPLE ILL

AUBURN, Wash., July 5.—Seventy persons are seriously ill and five may die from drinking infected lemonade yesterday at a picnic at Black Diamond. It is supposed acids in concocting the drink acted upon the zinc vessel from which it was served.

URGES ADOPTION OF BILL FOR PROBING LAND LAWS

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Representative Raker of California, in the House, urged the adoption of his resolution providing for an investigation of public land laws and their administration. He said so many complaints had been received that the public lands commission should familiarize itself with the west and the land conditions there.

MAY BE MOB AT ROCK FORD TONIGHT

Man Dressed as Woman, and Female in Male Attire Probable Robbers.

A man who masquerades as a woman, and a woman who at times assumes man's attire, according to the theory of the police, are the two clever thieves who have pulled off so many burglaries here during the last four or five weeks. The man acts as a scout, and, clothed in dainty feminine apparel, locates the houses which the two loot at their leisure.

According to the police, they both assume the role of agents, selling some household article of general use. In this way they make a house-to-house canvass and locate residences where the owners do not come to the door. After they have found an unoccupied but furnished house, they then make sure that its owner is absent by asking neighbors if a fictitious person lives there.

Ask for Mr. Sheldon?

At times, according to the police, they resort to the use of the telephone to see whether householders are at home. In some instances, they have made use of the name of "Sheldon." Their method is to call up a party and ask if Mr. Sheldon is answering the telephone. In this way, should the telephone be answered, they know that the householder is at home, and he is easily deceived by the "wrong number" ruse. In their role of agents they carry a large valise, which is useful in carrying away their plunder.

The man, according to the police, is probably an ex-convict, who would be recognized if he appeared in his proper

"Trunk Mystery" Solved by a Tardy Confession

Through a confession from a member of the family, the "mysterious disappearance" Tuesday morning of $65 from a locked trunk at the home of Mrs. Anna Bullock, 217 East Uintah street, was cleared up. Investigation showed that Mrs. Bullock had locked the trunk but had hidden the key, and had not kept it in her possession, as she told the police. The key was found and the money taken by the person who yesterday confessed to the theft. Mrs. Bullock [illegible] prosecute.

TROOPS MAY BE NEEDED IN ROCKY FORD

Troops Called Out to Quell Armed Revolt Incited by Monarchists.

LONDON, July 5.—Dispatches received by a London news agency today from Lisbon say a great fight has taken place between the populace and the seamen. The latter, incited by monarchist agitators, attempted to raise an armed revolt. Revolvers and knives were used with deadly effect.

The government called out all troops, both cavalry and infantry, and after severe fighting managed to quell revolt and restore order.

A state of panic prevails, according to dispatches, and precautions are being taken by the authorities to suppress any further revolutionary movement. The government is informed that the leader of the monarchists has recently received a remittance of $410,000 from Brazil.

Deckers Strike Again.

GLASGOW, July 5.—The dockers have again gone on strike and the shipowners say the men cannot be depended upon to adhere to agreements made by their leaders. The owners threaten to lay up the ships unless matters improve.

Deaths From Heat in Last Four Days Estimated at 500

The loss of more than 500 lives is to be credited to the great heat wave of July 1 to 5, 1911, which officials of the weather bureau say will abate some time today.

The torrid period will be memorable in weather annals for its wide extent, its long duration, its record-breaking temperatures and the long list of fatalities which it has caused.

The hundreds of news dispatches which the cities from the north Atlantic seaboard, west to the plains states have exchanged in the last four days, account, according to a careful review tonight for the deaths of 431 persons from the heat and 80 drowning a total of 511.

Incomplete as the record is from the failure of many points to report specifically the number of deaths, it is as serious a showing as is remembered for many years, if not a record.

The number of prostrations is still more difficult to compute, but from the review of the dispatches it appears that thousands have been overcome by the heat in the great cities.

POLICE AND STRIKERS CLASH, KILLING A MAN

MEXICO CITY, July 5.—The street car strike claimed its first victim tonight. In a slash between police and strikers one man was killed and a woman probably fatally injured. Several persons were more or less seriously wounded. The police charged a mob which was storming a car in a downtown street.

With the outcome of the strike still to be determined, people here were tonight facing two more walkouts that further threaten their bodily comfort. A report was given out yesterday that a settlement had been reached but this proved untrue.

WILL INVITE PRESIDENT TO RIDE IN AEROPLANE

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—A formal invitation to President Taft asking him to arrange his St. Louis visit so that it may include a trip to Kinloch field during the aero meet of the Aero club of St. Louis the second week in October is being prepared. Aeronautic enthusiasts are entertaining high hopes that the nation's chief executive may be persuaded to take his first aeroplane ride here.

[illegible] SAYS [illegible] KILLED JACKSON [illegible] ALONE

PRISONER CLAIMS CRIME COMMITTED ALONE.

Tells Conflicting Tales and Officers Vainly Search for Buried Money.

James Fields, a boy little more than 18 years old, yesterday confessed to the murder of Peter Jackson last Saturday at the latter's ranch in Elbert county, two miles west of Ramah. Jackson was killed for a roll of money he is supposed to have had in his pocket, and although Fields tells conflicting stories of the crime, he maintains that he alone shot the wealthy ranchman and then crushed his skull with an ax.

The lad expressed his willingness to accompany officers to Jackson's place and point out the spot where he claims to have buried the money and rifle with which the victim was shot from ambush. Assistant District Attorney Purcell and Deputy Sheriff Birdsall took him to the ranch in an automobile yesterday afternoon, but arriving there, Fields professed that he was unable to find the money and the party returned empty handed to Colorado Springs last night. Jackson usually carried about $500 in his pocket, and it is believed that his murderer secured that amount.

According to Fields' confession to Purcell and Sheriff Birdsall, Jackson was shot about noon Saturday as he was standing in front of his barn. To make sure that his victim was dead, Fields struck him a heavy blow with an ax before going through his pockets.

Parts of Confession Doubted.

There are portions of the confession that lead the authorities to doubt that Fields told the truth, particularly his contention that he committed the crime single handed. It is believed that he knows where the money is hidden, but will not disclose its hiding place to the authorities, hoping that he will soon be liberated or that it will be found by his supposed accomplice. Whether George King, who was arrested at Ramah last Monday was Fields' partner in the murder, has not yet been cleared up by the authorities, and he is being held at the county jail pending further investigation. The theory is advanced that Fields and another man, possibly King, planned the murder and robbery and that the money was to be divided.

Fields said yesterday that when he was 11 years old he and four brothers and sisters were sent to the state home for dependent children. He remained at the institution for about two years and was taken by a family living near Denver. He has no knowledge, he declared, of the whereabouts of his parents or any of his relatives. Fields is regarded by the authorities as a clever degenerate. A direct information charging him with Jackson's murder will probably be filed in the district court next week.

WIFE CHLOROFORMS HIM AND CUTS HIS THROAT

Chloroforms Him and Then Cuts His Face With Knife Because She Was Jealous.

ABERDEEN, S. D., July 5.—John Carroll, a fireman on the Milwaukee railroad running west from Mobridge, S. D., and residing at that place, is in the Aberdeen hospital and may die as the result of an attack upon him by his wife, who is alleged to have chloroformed him as he slept by her side at night and then badly disfigured him with a knife. Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the deed.

Mrs. Carroll is in jail at Mobridge. Public sentiment there is bitter against her.

Carroll is 25 years old and his wife is 40.

Head of Church Body Defends Edward Hines

PORTLAND, Ore., July 5.—The senatorial election of William Lorimer figured today in the third annual convention of the Brotherhood of Disciples of Christ, an allied organization of the international convention of the Christian church, which is in session here.

R. A. Long of Kansas City, in his address as president of the brotherhood, took occasion to mention criticism of a public indorsement which he had made of Edward Hines of Chicago. Mr. Long asserted he had nothing to apologize for.

Hines, he said, was a friend of many years standing, and when the charge of influencing the election of United States Senator Lorimer was made, Hines had come to him and assured him there was no truth in the charge and if money had been used to influence Lorimer's election, Hines had had no part either in securing contributions to any alleged fund or in disbursing it. The speaker expressed his belief in Hines' innocence.

Mr. Long took to task those newspapers which he said assailed a man's character and shatters it, regardless of his innocence.

President Long created great enthusiasm among the delegates by offering to contribute to the board of ministerial relief of the church $25,000, divided into five annual installments on condition that the board secure the sum of $25,000 per year for five years from other sources, the money to be used for the relief of sick and aged ministers.

GASS WINS A VICTORY

Present Status Gives the City a Double Victory—Fines Ordered Remitted.

On a writ of error, the rulings of County Judge Little yesterday in the two test liquor cases appealed from police court will probably be taken to the state supreme court, according to Russ L. Holland, attorney for John Robison and W. W. Garig, the two defendants. In his ruling in the Robinson case, Judge Little reversed the decision of Magistrate Starrett, and held that the man, in drinking liquor in the public dining room of McRae's cafe, violated the liquor ordinance. He fined Robinson $50 and costs. In the Garig case, Judge Little sustained the decision of the lower court, fining Garig $100 and costs for serving liquor to Robinson.

According to the findings of Judge Little, it is unlawful either to drink or serve liquor in a restaurant other than those in licensed hotels. The cases will probably be submitted to the supreme court on agreed statements of facts, as in the county court.

On the recommendation of City Attorney McKesson, Judge Little remitted the fines assessed against the two men, since the cases were brought solely to secure a court decision on the liquor ordinance. The court costs, however, were charged to the defendants.

Decision in Robinson Case.

Following is the decision in the robinson case, the more important of the two:

The defendant, Robinson, is charged with violating Sections Twenty-six and Twenty-seven of Ordinance Number 775, by drinking intoxicating liquors in a public place, to-wit: the public dining room connected with the premises occupied by the McRae Cafe Restaurant company, in Colorado Springs, Colorado, on or about the 16th day of June, 1911.

This case also comes here on appeal from the police magistrate of the city, on an agreed statement of facts. It is admitted in this statement of facts that the defendant, Robinson, drank intoxicating liquor in the public dining room of the McRae restaurant, as alleged, and in the argument of this case counsel practically admitted that the public dining room where the defendant drank said liquor, was and is a public place, within the meaning of the ordinance.

Cites City Ordinance.

Sections 26 and 27 of said ordinance read as follows:

SECTION 26. RESTRICTIONS AS TO RESTAURANTS:

It shall be unlawful to drink or to permit to be drunk any intoxicating liquor in any booth, compartment, private room or place, in, upon, or connected with the premises occupied by any restaurant. It shall be unlawful for any person to store or permit to be stored, any intoxicating liquor, in any quantity whatever, in or about the premises occupied by any restaurant.

SECTION 27. DRINKING IN PUBLIC PLACES:

It shall be unlawful to drink or permit to be drunk any intoxicating liquor in or about any pharmacy, or upon any street, avenue, alley, park, vacant lot

"Afraid of Irate Wife and Held Up Himself," Is Ford's Confession

J. I. Ford, the man whose two "holdups" have brought him into notoriety in the last week, confessed to the police last night that he is an amateur Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde and had holdup himself. Ford, in a feigned state of terror, appeared at the police station last night and asserted that he had been held up and robbed of $5 in cash on Huerfano street about five minutes before.

He gave an excellent description of the "bandit" and dilated at great length on the revolver which he asserted was held against his heart. He also told how he had been held up on Saturday night under the Santa Fe bridge. At that time, he alleged, he was beaten as well as robbed.

Fear of facing an angry wife according to Ford led him to make up the tale of his holdups. On the first occasion he became intoxicated and had fallen through a glass door. If he went home without an explanation, he was afraid that his wife would berate him so he invented the story of the beating. It worked.

On the second occasion that of Tuesday night, he had cashed a check for his wife. Then taking the money, he spent it for liquor. Again, working his fertile brain, he concocted the story of the second holdup and became so enthusiastic over his powers of imagination that he thought he would try it on the police.

After confessing that both his stories were "pipe dreams," Ford gave his promise not to hold [illegible] more.

[illegible] APPLAUDS LEAD OF U. S. FOR PEACE

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Pope Pius, in an autograph letter received today by the apostolic delegate to Washington, applauds the lead taken by the United States in the world-wide campaign for international peace.

Although the pontiff does not mention President Taft especially by name, a copy of the letter was forwarded tonight to the White House. It is expected the President, because of his well known peace views, will reply to the cordial sentiments of the ruler of the church. The letter follows:

"To Our Venerable Brother, Diomedes, Titular Archbishop of Larissa, Apostolic Delegate to the United States of America:

"Venerable Brother—Health and apostolic benediction. We are happy to learn from you that in the United States of America, under the leadership of men enjoying the highest authority with the people, the more judicious members of the community are fervently desirous of maintaining the advantages of international peace. To compose differences to restrain the outbreak of hostilities, to prevent the dangers of war, to remove even the anxieties of so-called armed peace, is indeed most praiseworthy and any effort in this cause, even though it may not immediately or wholly accomplish its purpose, manifests nevertheless a zeal which cannot but redound to the credit of its authors and be of benefit to the state.

Especially True Now.

"This is especially true at the present day when vast armies, instrumentalities most destructive to human life and the advanced state of military science, portend wars which must be a source of fear even to the most powerful rulers.

"Wherefore, we most heartily commend the work already begun, which should be approved by all good men, and especially by us, holding as we do, the supreme pontificate of the church, and representing him who is both the God and the Prince of Peace; and we most gladly lend the weight of our authority to those who are striving to realize this most beneficient purpose.

"For we do not doubt that the same distinguished men who possess so much ability and such wisdom in affairs of state will construct in behalf of a struggling age a royal road for the nation leading to peace and conciliation, in accordance with the laws of justice and charity, which should be sacredly observed by all. For inasmuch as peace consists in order, who will vainly think that it can be established unless he strives with all the force within him that due respect be given to those virtues which are the principles of order and its firmest foundation.

Find Repose in Beauty of Peace.

"As for the remaining aspects of the matter, we recall to mind the example of so many of our illustrious predecessors, who when the condition of the times permitted, rendered in this very matter also, the most signal service to the cause of humanity and to the stability of governments; but since the present age allows us to aid in this cause only by pious prayers to God, we therefore most earnestly pray God who knows the hearts of men and inclines them as he wills, that he may be gracious to those who are furthering peace among the peoples and may grant to the nations which with united purpose are laboring to this end, that the destruction of war and its disaster being averted they may at length find repose in the beauty of peace.

"As a pledge of divine favor, and a proof of our benevolence, we must lovingly grant you, venerable brother, the apostolic benediction.

"Given at Rome, at St. Peters, the 11th day of June, 1911, and the eighth year of our pontificate.

(Signed) "PIUS X."

The letter, it is understood, was inspired by the recent jubilee at Baltimore when Cardinal Gibbons celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. On that occasion many of the speakers dwelt enthusiastically on the growth of the peace sentiment, President Taft being among those who lent their hearty indorsement.

GIRL FALLS IN LAKE CAUSING FOUR DEATHS

SCRANTON, Pa., July 5.—Four waitresses at a hotel at Mount Pocono were drowned today in an ice pond near the hotel. Two others were rescued unconscious. One girl slipped into the pond and her sister who caught her was dragged in. They clutched at the girls on the dam and the latter tried to rescue their drowning companions with the result that all were drawn into the water.

1,100 POUNDS DYNAMTE EXPLODED; ONE INJURY

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 5.—Owing to elaborate precautions only one man was injured when 1,100 pounds of dynamite were exploded in a limestone ledge on the railroad extension between Carter City and Hazard, Ky., late yesterday. The ledge, which was a quarter of a mile long, was shattered into fragments.

SMART SCARFS FOR MOURNING

From the New York Tribune.

No matter how sultry the weather, the woman in deep mourning is denied the privilege of the cool, thin frocks of light material which other women may wear. Her mourning exacts a certain dignity and conventionality, and if she goes about gloveless or in a Dutch-necked blouse she looks immediately unkempt and slatternly. Over thin mourning bodices now are being worn long, graceful scarfs which in spite of a cool, unsolliarly neck give the requisite dignity and correctness of garb for street wear. These mourning scarfs are sometimes of lusterless silk, with deep borders of crepe at the ends; and sometimes they are of crepe de chine, with the ends shirred with ten rows of heavy shirring and finished with long tassels. The scarfs falls over the shoulders, one end hanging almost to the knee, while the other drops to about the waist.

SEVEN AVIATORS CROSS CHANNEL

CALAIS, July 6.—Seven of the aviators in the international circuit race made successful flights across the English channel this morning. Vedrines made the passage in 30 minutes.

NINETEEN HURT IN TWO STREET CAR ACCIDENTS

PITTSBURG, July 5.—Nineteen persons were hurt in two street car collisions here tonight. The first occurred during the rush hour when defective brakes failed to hold an East Liberty car, which crashed into a Center avenue car. Both were filled, and some of the passengers were hurt in jumping. The cars were wrecked.

About the same time two interurban cars on the Castle Shannon line came together in a head-on collision. Three persons were bruised and cut by flying glass, while more than a score were badly shaken.

[illegible] FIGURES SHOW [illegible] VICTIMS

CHICAGO, July 5.—Revised figures on the number of deaths and injuries in the United States due to the celebration of the Fourth of July show that to date 38 lives were sacrificed and 1,217 were injured, as compared with 44 killed and 2,485 injured last year, and 62 killed and 3,346 injured reported in 1909.

Fireworks claimed 18 victims, firearms 12, gunpowder 5 and toy pistols 3.

MAINE'S LOSS [illegible] EXPLOSION IN [illegible]

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The loss of the battleship Maine was caused by the explosion of her three magazines. No such effect as that produced upon the vessel could have been caused by an explosion from without.

Such is the opinion of General William H. Bixby, chief of engineers, U. S. A., who has returned from a personal inspection of the work of raising the Maine.

FRANCE KEEPS SILENT

PARIS, July 5.—The French government continues to maintain absolute silence regarding the proposal for pour parlers resulting from the intervention of Germany in Morocco, but it is understood France has not modified its original view. The French government considers the presence of a German warship at Agadir is not justified by conditions; that tranquillity prevails and German interests are in no way threatened. As to the desire of Germany recently expressed to enter into pour parlers, it is recalled the French government showed itself favorably disposed.

France, it is said, is ready to negotiate and to admit that other powers should be called upon to take part in the negotiations, but it is pointed out that it is the usage of diplomacy to indicate the character and object of negotiations before beginning them. It is also remarked that the negotiations will take on a more favorable complexion if Germany recalled her warship from Agadir after she became satisfied that the presence of a warship was not necessary.

FLAVORS MIXED IN COOKERY

Combinations That Give Pleasing Results.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

The real culinary genius has little need for rules about the combination of flavors in cookery. Nevertheless, rules are useful, and may be of great use to those who possess only talent and not genius.

There are three kinds of combinations. In one one flavor is subservient to another, being merely used to emphasize it; in another, the two flavors create a new one, and in the third class two flavors, or even more, are combined in such a way as to keep each one distinct, while producing an harmonious whole, says the New York Tribune.

As an example of the first order, a slight lemon flavor is often added to strawberry sweets to accentuate that of the berry. Hence its use much in strawberry frappes and sherbets. A strawberry icing for cake is usually too saccharine without a few drops of lemon juice. Lemon juice, too, is used with many insipidly sweet fruits for the same reason.

Vanilla and chocolate together are, of course, familiar enough. Without it, chocolate is apt to be a trifle too bitter for most palates, but more than a few drops of vanilla in a chocolate mixture is a mistake. A drop or two of vanilla is sometimes added to peach desserts by foreign cooks. It should never be used except with fruit that chances to be somewhat tasteless.

Vanilla is sometimes used with cocoanut, but it is not as good as orange in this way. Orange and cocoanut make a most happy combination, and this is an example of a combination where neither is subservient to the other. One is not used merely to accentuate the other, but the two combined make a new flavor. The same is true of pineapple and strawberry boiled with sugar to a preserve. The syrup from this delicious preserve may be used in creams and various sweets.

A new flavor is "burnt orange"—caramel and orange combined. Grate the rind of a deep yellow orange. The rind of the "Floridas" has not as much flavor as that of the tangerine, Maltese and similar oranges. When grating, be careful to exclude all the white inner skin. Add two tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar. Cook the two together very slowly until they form a rich reddish brown mixture. Then stir in two or three tablespoonfuls of rapidly boiling water. When the caramel has dissolved mix it with enough sifted powdered sugar to make a firm icing or use it to flavor fondant and other sweets.

Chocolate is perhaps combined with more flavors than any other. One might almost say that everything is combined with chocolate by confectioners.

FIRST MEMBER OF THE TAFT FAMILY TO GO UP IN THE AIR.

Henry W. Taft, brother of the President, today enjoys the distinction of being the first member of the distinguished family to make a trip in an aeroplane. For a quarter of an hour he circled the aviation field at Belmont park, Long Island, in a machine operated by Tom Sopwith, the young English airman. They ascended more than 500 feet.

"Fine," said Taft, when asked how he liked flying.

SNAKES DRIVEN FROM WILD LANDS BY FIRE

Williamsport Correspondence Philadelphia North American.

People residing in the Pine Creek valley, which is contiguous to the wild land districts that were burned over during the last two weeks, report a terrific influx of snakes driven into the valley by the great area of fire that ran over the wooded section.

The rattlesnakes are taking refuge in outbuildings, chicken pens and the like, so that there is a veritable snake panic in that section. The rattle and black snakes are the most numerous varieties, as these are the type of reptiles that stay for the most part in the hill sections.

SESSIONS IN SEE FLAT [illegible] MEETINGS

CHICAGO, July 5.—Mrs. Felicia Rees continued her testimony for the defense of Evelyn Arthur See today, describing the meetings held at See's flat as being in perfect keeping with the highest rules of mortality.

"Sometimes Mr. See talked on topics in which he knew we were interested and sometimes he took the leadership. It was just like any church meeting. Someone always led," said Mrs. Rees.

The witness testified that See was not the only leader of "Absolute life." Any one, she declared, could be a leader by coming into a full understanding. If See should cease to exist the work would go on.

CUMMINS CRITICISES PRESIDENT'S SPEECHES

WASHINGTON, July 5.—President Taft's reciprocity speeches in Indiana Monday and Tuesday were sharply criticised in the Senate today by Senator Cummins.

"When the President abandons the duties of his office and enters upon a campaign to mould or lead public opinion on this reciprocity bill," said Mr. Cummins, "then he is on the same level as any other man and can not be exempt from the criticism to be attached to the arguments he uses."

CREATING SMALLER [illegible]

WASHINGTON, July 5. Profiting from the experience gained from the serious forest fires that showed many of the supervisors were in charge of units too large for efficient administration, the forest service has set about dividing several of the larger forests.

Through proclamations by President Taft, 26 forests have been formed out of a former 17.

The changes, although establishing nine new forests, are accompanied by a net reduction in the total forest area of 255,000 acres. California is the only state showing an increase in area—17,000 acres. These changes, it is said, are a part of a general movement to develop an efficient system of forest fire protection.

[illegible] IN EXPRESS BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A resolution calling for a report from the interstate commerce commission by next January on the express business, including a comparison of rates with railroad rates, physical valuation, operating methods, and duplication of directors in express and railroad companies was introduced today by Representative Burleson of Texas.

Mr. Burleson denounced the recent rate reduction by express companies as a bluff to head off legislation.

STRIKING MINERS GIVE UP

PITTSBURG, July 5.—The miners throughout the Irwin and Greensburg coal fields, in Westmoreland county, held meetings today to vote on extending the strike that has been on for 16 months. In every instance the miners voted to give up the struggle.

Eighteen lives have been lost in the strike and more than a million dollars has been expended besides large donations from sympathizers.

POSTAL SAVINGS BONDS ARE IN HEAVY DEMAND

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Postmaster General Hitchcock announced today that applications from depositors to purchase postal savings bonds on July 1 aggregated 42,000. Of these more than 35,000 were applied for in registered form, indicating the intention of depositors to retain the bonds as an investment.

Fifty additional second-class offices were designated by the postmaster as postal depositories. They will be ready to receive deposits July 29.

HAIL RUINS GRAIN

WATERLOO, Ia., July 5.—A terrific wind and hail storm swept over the eastern portion of Black Hawk and Bremer counties tonight, mowing the fields of standing grain as if by a giant sickle. The farmers have suffered heavy loss from damage to buildings and grain.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, the former wife of Colonel John Jacob Astor, who has written her relatives in Philadelphia that she will desert London shortly to return and "have a little of the old life." J. R. Barton Willing, her brother, has given orders that the old Willing homestead in South Broad street, Philadelphia, be reopened, renovated and prepared for the arrival of Mrs. Astor.

"I am sick and tired of English society," Mrs. Astor is quoted as writing. "The women of the present English court so dislike American women and everything American that there is absolutely no enjoyment there."

TURKEY DENIES REPORTS OF CRUELTY IN ALBANIA

NEW YORK, July 5.—On behalf of the Ottoman government, which he represents here as consul general, Shah Ji'r today issued a statement denying reports that Turkish troops have wrought devastation of Albanian villages. It is the insurgents themselves who have indulged mostly in the destructive work and placed the blame on Turkish troops, the statement charges.

VIENNA, July 5.—Telegram received here from Cettinje say that King Nicholas is sending 7,000 troops to patrol the border passes and prevent Albanian rebels from entering Montenegrin territory. The king says his intentions are pacific and that he will keep peace as long as he is not attacked.

GERMANY ASKS CONFERENCE ON AFFAIRS IN MOROCCO

PARIS, July 5.—Since the dispatch of the German warship Panther to Agadir, German diplomats have given the French and British statesmen to understand that Germany wished to discuss the Moroccan question, adding that Spain should naturally take part in the negotiations.

MINERS' TRIAL BEGINS

DENVER, July 5.—Prayers were said today and will continue to be uttered daily in the northern Colorado coal fields, for the 17 union miners on trial in the district court here for the alleged violation of the injunction of District Judge Greely Whitford.

Judge Whitford, who is sitting in the case, some months ago issued an injunction against striking miners restraining them from certain acts. Sixteen miners were sentenced several weeks afterward to a year each in the county jail here for violating the injunction but were later released by Judge Whitford's order.

Those on trial now are accused of violating the injunction by spoken words and acts for several days.

Arguments on a motion to quash the writs on the ground that they were improperly drawn, preceded the taking of testimony. Judge Whitford did not rule on the motion.

Six of the 17 defendants were placed on the stand by the prosecution for the purpose of establishing the fact of their knowledge of the issuance of the injunction.

Another witness testified to threats and insulting remarks by some of the defendants. The taking of testimony will continue tomorrow.

FREEDOM OF NAVAL YARD FOR JAPANESE ADMIRAL

KANSAS RECORD

thermometer rose only to 97. Portland, Me., was only 5 degrees cooler than yesterday 82 being the highest recorded. Philadelphia and Buffalo with 94; New York city with 92 and Baltimore and Washington with 88 were other eastern cities which showed drops in temperatures.

Light showers were reported in the upper Lake region. At other points in the west the weather was fair.

Death List Swelled.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Although the forecaster's prediction of "not quite so warm" was fulfilled today, the maximum temperature being only 92 as against 94 yesterday, sweltering humanity in New York found little satisfaction in lower thermometer readings. The exhausting effects were manifested in the record tally of heat prostrations and a swollen death list.

The health board issued a circular advising prompt medical treatment for even slightly ailing children.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—Twenty-nine deaths from heat were reported at the coroner's office today, making a total of 51 since the hot wave began. The maximum temperature was 94 degrees.

Deaths from the heat also were reported from many parts of the state. Two cases were reported from Scranton, and there were cases in Wilkesbarre, Hazelton, Lancaster, Shenandoah, Shamokin and York.

Not Enough Ambulances.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Heat killed 32 persons, including 12 babies, and prostrated dozens in Chicago, today, the fifth day of the present hot wave. The temperature was recorded at 101.5 in the weather bureau tower at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, equalling the highest point reached yesterday, while at the street level the mercury climbed to 108 degrees. Relief is expected to come Friday, according to the weather forecaster, who said a high pressure area was moving toward Chicago from the northwest.

Deaths resulting from the hot wave have swamped the coroner's office. There are not sufficient police ambulances in Chicago to care for the prostration cases. Frequently express wagons are called to convey the victims to hospitals. The temperature registered 96 degrees at 7 p. m. and 93 degrees at 8 o'clock this evening.

Receive Slight Relief.

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—A breeze tonight brought slight relief to sweltering St. Louis. At 7 p. m. the government thermometer registered 91 degrees. At the same hour yesterday it was 95. The highest point reached today was 98. One death due to heat was reported.

CLEVELAND, July 5.—A lake breeze this afternoon caused the mercury to drop several degrees after it had reached 96 in the weather bureau and 108 at the kiosk at the street level. The deaths of 11 babies are attributed to the heat. Several prostrations were reported. An ice shortage is causing much suffering.

DETROIT, July 5.—Crazed by the intense heat, a member of the crew of the steamer City of Cleveland jumped overboard and was drowned in the river today.

PITTSBURG, July 5.—A breeze brought relief to sweltering Pittsburg tonight after the official thermometer had registered 96 degrees. The weather bureau reported no break in the warm weather for tomorrow.

Rains in Iowa.

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 5.—A rainstorm which seems to have reached all northeastern Iowa thoroughly drenched the ground tonight, and it is believed has saved the corn crop.

CINCINNATI, July 5.—The thermometer today officially reached 94 degrees and 100 degrees on the street. There were two deaths and 15 prostrations.

FORT DODGE, Ia., July 5.—The hot spell of the last two weeks was broken today by an hour's rain. One man was struck by lightning and killed.

AUBURN, N. Y., July 5.—A temperature that reached 116 here today caused three deaths.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 5.—There was one death from heat here today.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 5.—Three deaths due directly or indirectly to the heat were reported from about Connecticut today. Temperatures of 80 to 105 degrees were reported.

GREEN BAY, Wis., July 5.—A four weeks' drought was broken here today by a light shower.

REDDING, Cal., July 4.—Overcome by heat while working on a hay press near Millville, James Bothwell, aged 40, fell to the ground this afternoon and died within fifteen minutes.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Made ill by the intense heat, Miss Julia Marlowe has been prevented by her physicians from continuing her week's engagement in Shakespearean repertory, which has been cancelled.

Miss Marlowe's condition is not alarming, but will prevent her from appearing on the stage during the summer, it is said.

CINCINNATI, July 5.—There were two deaths due to heat here today.

DANVILLE, Ill., July 5.—One person died here today and five others were prostrated as the result of the excessive heat.

General Reports

Albany, N. Y.—The official mercury climbed to 98 and four deaths and several prostrations were reported. A heavy shower this afternoon afforded some relief.

Pittsburg—Up to midnight there had been reported seven deaths and 17 prostrations directly caused by the heat.

Detroit—Rains fell tonight at widely separated points through the state, bringing relief from the terrific heat. Grand Rapids and Bay City report heavy downpours.

Austin, Tex.—In central Texas temperatures were the [illegible] at 11

Boston—Another day of excessive heat wilted New England today. Although the temperature was lower than on the two preceding days the humidity was greater.

More than 67 deaths were reported in New England and the prostrations ran into the hundreds.

Columbus, O.—Two deaths, several prostrations and one person driven insane was the local heat record today. The mercury only rose to 97 degrees today as against 103.5 yesterday.

Baltimore—Three deaths from heat and 26 prostrations were recorded here today. The maximum temperature was 97 degrees at 4 p. m.

New Haven, Conn.—Electrical storms and cooling breezes brought relief to many parts of the state today, but not until the heat had caused five deaths and 34 prostrations. The thermometer officially ranged from 96 to 98.

HOT WEATHER HAS NO EFFECT ON PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 5.—President Taft returned to the capital tonight from Indiana. On the last stage of his return trip the chief executive showed the effects of the high temperature less than any other member of his party.

Major Butt, his military aide, and Secretary Hilles were draggled and spent, but the President swung down from his car smiling and walked with almost a jaunty step to the automobile waiting to convey him to the White House.

Mr. Taft expressed satisfaction over his reception in Indiana, especially with the evident effect of his speech advocating Canadian reciprocity.

LORDS ADOPT AMENDMENT

LONDON, July 5.—The house of lords tonight by a vote of 253 to 46 passed Lord Lansdowne's amendment to the bill which provides that no bill effecting the existence of the crown of Protestant succession or the establishing of a national parliament or a body of legislative powers in any portion of the kingdom, or which in the judgment of a joint committee of the two houses, raises an issue of great gravity shall receive royal assent until it had been submitted to the referendum. War Secretary Haldane made it clear that the government would not accept the amendment.

The Realty Company.

The International Realty Company objected on the ground that the city has no right to compel property owners to pave unless the improvement is requested by a majority of holders in the proposed paving district.

The protest presented by Attorney Sherman is on behalf of owners on Platte, between Cascade and Nevada. It asks that an oiled surface be substituted for cement on Platte, and is signed by Mrs. M. N. Gambrill, G. A. Taff, J. Sophie Johnston, the Acacia Investment company and the El Paso club, all the holders of property abutting on the designated portion of the street except J. F. Humphrey and J. W. Atkinson, who are out of the city.

Another objection against the paving of Cascade avenue was that signed by every property holder between Platte avenue and North Park Place. This protest was accompanied by a petition asking for an oiled street in this district, the cost to be assessed against the property owners. They hold that Cascade is a residence thoroughfare and that paving is objectionable because of the noise, dust and cost. Those signing the petition are:

Many Signatures.

Mary L. Carpenter, Leonard Carpenter, Alfred S. V. Carpenter, Dunbar F. Carpenter, Bonbright and Donaldson, Charles E. Emery, P. F. Gildea, P. B. Anderson, H. H. Stevens, Hallett and Baker, Anna L. Dye, Mrs. M. J. Willard, Miss M. Ericson, Mrs. Eliz M. Altman, J. Sophie Johanson, N. Marr, M. A. Childs, E. M. E. Solly, H. E. Waterman, W. W. Babcock, Francis B. Hill, John E. Hundley, Susan L. Dunbar, Alta Vista Hotel company, and the Colorado Springs Elks Home association.

The petition asking that center parking be eliminated from Nevada avenue to the Santa Fe depot on Pikes Peak avenue, declared that the petitioners desire to have the entire avenue paved because it is a business street and center parking would cheapen property values.

After listening to these protests, the City Council adjourned until this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when another hearing will be held except in the instance of the street car company, whose protests involve a number of legal points. At the session this afternoon, the Council hopes for a free expression of sentiment of those who favor paving, as well as those who are against it. The continuation of the hearing of the railway company's protests will probably be held early next week.

NEW ANTI-SALOON LAW

or grounds, or in or upon any public stairway or hall, or in any other public place whatsoever, within the jurisdiction of the city.

It is contended by the defendant, among other things, that these sections of the ordinance do not prohibit the drinking of intoxicating liquors in the public dining room of a restaurant; that Section 26 is the only part of the ordinance that refers to restaurants, and that in that section, drinking in the public dining room is not prohibited; and that the words, "Any other public place whatsoever within the jurisdiction of the city," in Section 27, do not include a public dining room of a restaurant.

Take Measure as a Whole.

The ordinance must be considered as a whole, and it is an elementary rule of construction of statutes that effect is to be given, if possible, to every word, clause and sentence. "The great fundamental rule in constructing statutes, is to ascertain and give effect to the intention of the legislature as expressed in the statute, and and where the meaning of the language used is plain, it must be given effect by the courts." If the intention cannot be discovered from the language used, it is the duty of the court to give the statute a reasonable construction consistent with legal principles. I know of no rule of construction by which a court can consider Section 26 separately and apart from Section 27, and other parts of the ordinance.

Section 26 prohibits drinking liquor in private places in a restaurant, such as booths, etc., and following this, as a later expression in the ordinance, Section 27 prohibits drinking in any pharmacy, street, avenue, alley, park, etc., "or in any other public place whatsoever within the jurisdiction of the city."

It is true, as contended by defendant, that when the legislature has expressed itself on a given subject, it is presumed to have expressed its entire mind on such subject, but it is not necessary that the entire expression of the legislature should be contained in one particular section of the law or ordinance.

Dining Room Public Place.

Section 26 refers to drinking in private places. Section 27 refers to drinking in public places, and both private places and public places may be contained in a restaurant, and as a matter of fact, are contained in the restaurant in question. The ordinance, in prohibiting drinking liquor in all hotels and clubs, includes public places such as public dining rooms of restaurants.

It is also contended by the defendant that the rule ejusdem generis should be applied, and that the specific words, "booth, compartment, private room or place," in Section 26, limit the general words, "any other public place whatsoever" in Section 27, and that the latter words should be limited in their construction so as to cover only similar places to "booth, compartment, private room or place." I think there is no merit whatever in this contention, and that this case comes clearly within the exception to the rule contended for. Rules of construction are intended to aid the court in the correct interpretation of the law, and I am unable to find any rule of construction that justifies the conclusion under this ordinance that intoxicating liquors may be drunk in the public dining room of a restaurant, or in any other public place in the city, except duly licensed hotels and clubs. The wisdom or want of wisdom of this ordinance is not a question for this court to determine. It is the duty of the court to endeavor to carry out the intention and policy of those who made the ordinance. In this case, the people. I believe it was the intention of the voters who passed this ordinance to prohibit the drinking of intoxicating liquors in restaurants in Colorado Springs.

The motion of the defendant for judgment in his favor is denied. The defendant, John Robinson, is found guilty of drinking intoxicating liquor in violation of the ordinance, and the judgment of the court is that he pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs and stand committed until such fine and costs are paid.

CROOKS

garb. Hence, whenever he appears on the street, he is clothed as a woman. When the two plan a night robbery the woman, for purposes of convenience and also as a disguise, wears a man's clothing.

The two crooks are believed by the police to be the same couple who operated in Denver for six weeks prior to starting their depredations here. In Denver they baffled the whole police force and a score of special detectives.

"We must have the co-operation of the people if we ever expect to get these people," said Chief Detective Railsback last night. "A woman in the north end saw the man dressed as a woman, recognized that it was a man in woman's disguise, and did not tell us about it until yesterday. Had she notified us immediately, we might have caught them both.

Same Burglars Responsible.

"In the last week we have heard of 50 people who have been called up over the telephone and asked if Mr. Sheldon lived there." All the robberies within the last month have been pulled off by the same people. As in the instance of the robbery at 830 East High street Tuesday morning, the woman sometimes wears a man's clothing to throw us off the trail.

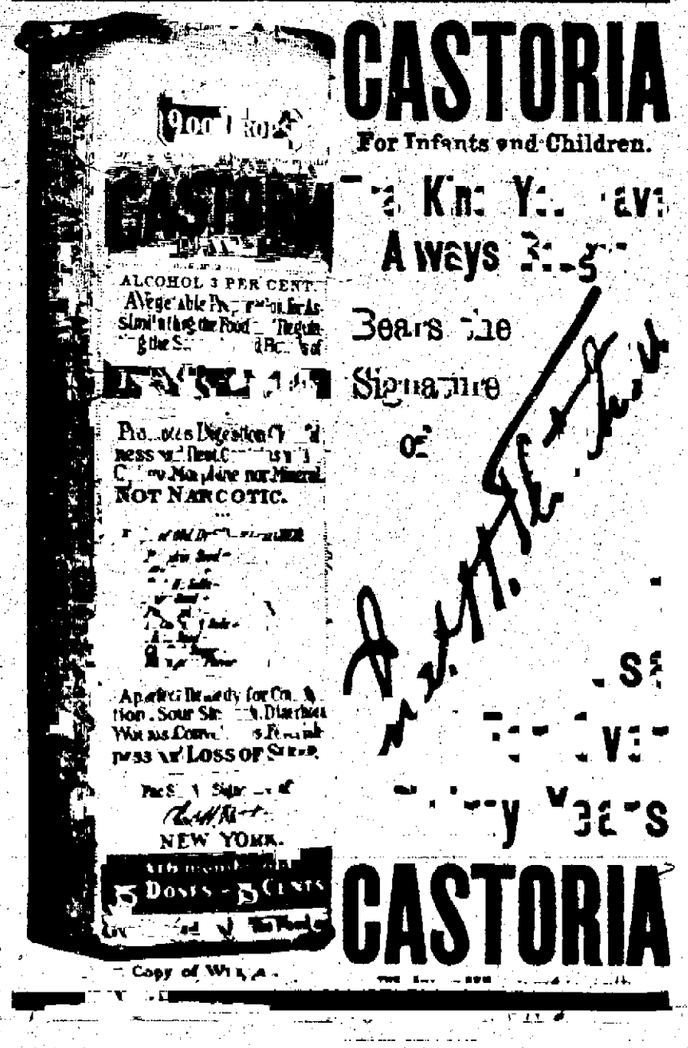

"We ask that whenever people see suspicious characters they notify us immediately. We have a mounted officer here all the time, who will investigate as soon as he can get to the place where suspicious persons are seen."

Railsback thinks that the couple operate in the day time in the north end and select other sections of the city for their night depredations. At night they evidently do not trouble to pick out unoccupied dwellings, as in the High street burglary. In this robbery, the man, or woman dressed in man's clothes, as the victims describe her, pointed a revolver at the two women whom her movements had awakened, and escaped with a gold watch. Mrs. A. M. Williamson and her sister, Mrs. George Wheaton, who slept in the room burglarized, were too frightened to move until the robber made his—or her—getaway.

THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1911.

THE PAVING PROTESTS.

TO progressive, public-spirited citizens, yesterday's Council meeting, called to hear protests against street paving, is the most discouraging thing that has happened in Colorado Springs for a long time. Indeed, it is not too much to say that if the Stratton estate succeeds in its effort to block the improvement, years will pass before the city recovers from the depressing effect of this rebuff to public enterprise.

The paving scheme has reached its present stage after long agitation marked by so many difficulties and discouragments that it is not surprising that its advocates repeatedly lost hope of accomplishing anything. But the agitation was continued, and little by little a public sentiment was aroused which recognized this as the most important of the improvements needed to give Colorado Springs its proper standing among progressive cities.

Fortunately, during the last two years we have had an administration in full sympathy with these plans. The Council, the City Engineer and the City Attorney have performed a prodigious amount of hard work in bringing the project to its present stage. This work has been done thoroughly, as is attested by the present construction of sanitary and storm sewers, and inspection of pipes. For these purposes the city has spent about $50,000 but the results will be of comparatively little value if the paving plans are frustrated.

ONLY ONE PROTEST IMPORTANT.

Several protests were made yesterday, none of which is especially important except that of the Stratton estate trustees. Owners of property on Cascade Avenue between Platte and North Park Place asked that center parking with oiled roadways be substituted for paving in that district. A similar request in relation to Platte Avenue between Cascade and Nevada was made, except that side parking is asked for. Property owners on East Pikes Peak Avenue want that street paved throughout its entire width instead of being paved and center-parked, as is provided in the plans. But these protests are of minor importance because each of them concerns only a small section of the proposed paving district. They are matters of detail which doubtless can be settled without difficulty by the Council in conference with the property owners concerned.

But the protest made by the Stratton estate through two of its corporations, the C. S. & I. Railway Company and the International Realty Company, are of vastly greater moment, for they bring into jeopardy the entire program of street paving. The street railway company asserts that the procedure under which the paving is to be done conflicts with its franchise rights, and that the share of the cost assessed against the company would endanger its outstanding bonds. The International Realty Company, the corporation which holds the Stratton real estate, alleges that the city has no right to require property owners to pay for street paving unless a majority of them petition for it.

These are questions of law, the ultimate decision of which must rest with the courts. Nobody can question the right of the trustees of the estate to raise such questions if they are so inclined and to involve themselves and the City in endless delay and expense fighting them to a final conclusion. But in this matter one big fact stands out with such unmistakable clearness that it can neither be minimized nor ignored. Moreover, it is so obvious to everybody in Colorado Springs that it will form the basis of public judgment in estimating the trustees' motives in the present case.

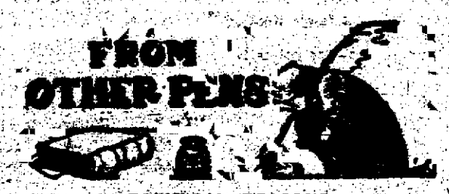

It is this—the Stratton Estate has since the death of its founder eight years ago, been the most powerful and most consistent obstacle to civic progress and public improvement in Colorado Springs. By reason of its ownership of the street railway system and of several parcels of highly valuable real property in the business district, it has exercised the strong influence which always attaches to great wealth. Its opportunities for usefulness are great. It could be, and if the men who direct its affairs were cast in a different mould, would be—a wonderfully potent influence for civic progress and betterment. In short, it would be what W. S. Stratton would have made it if he had lived, a means of building up a better and more beautiful Colorado Springs and promoting the happiness and welfare of its people.

AN OBSTACLE TO PUBLIC PROGRESS.

It could be all this without curtailing its profits or diverting the income which its philanthropic founder bequeathed to a magnificently charitable but still unfilled purpose. But with a spirit singularly at variance with that of its founder, a spirit utterly lacking in civic pride and wholly disregardful of the good opinion of the public, the trustees of the estate have persisted in conducting it on the discredited principle of "all the traffic will bear." It is hard for people who knew and remember W. S. Stratton to accustom themselves to the present conduct of his estate. The cold-blooded maxim that "business is business," now covers the affairs of this immense concern even to the smallest detail, but in a way which suggests only by contrast the aims and ideals of its founder.

It is necessary to understand this policy thoroughly if one is to realize the spirit which lies back of the trustees' present protest against paving. The estate opposes this public improvement and intends to use its rich resources fighting it, not because it believes the procedure under which the work is to be done to be irregular, but simply because it does not want to bear its share of the cost. Enjoying immensely valuable franchise privileges for which it has never paid a dollar to the people who granted them, it fights public improvements because, like most public service corporations, it intends to get all it can and give as little as possible in return. The question of the legality of the proceedings under which the Council started the paving scheme concerns the company only insofar as it provides a weapon with which to oppose a vital public improvement.

The final outcome of this matter will be in doubt for some time. It seems hardly probable, in the light of yesterday's developments, that the paving can be started next month, as has been planned. Boiled down to essentials the case stands thus: will the Stratton estate permit the people of Colorado Springs to pave their streets?

POLITICAL REASONS.

From the New York World.

Secretary Meyer need not expect that his plan to close three of the least useful navy yards on grounds of economy will be enthusiastically received by Congress. In spite of the efforts of the administration it has been impossible to abolish the local pension agencies and make all payments through one central agency in Washington. Congress is more subject to local political considerations than to a passion for sound economy.

RECIPROCITY NEARER.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The prompt voting down of the Root amendment to the Canadian reciprocity bill without even calling the roll is an important step toward the final enactment of that measure in the form in which it was negotiated and in which the House passed it. This was really the first test vote on the measure, and the result is in every way encouraging. The possibility that the Republican insurgents and others of its opponents might succeed by any desperate means in defeating it has now become still more remote. The Root amendment was admitted to be the most dangerous yet suggested. Its elimination will be hailed with satisfaction throughout the country—no less than in the White House.

TO CHECK THE MURDER INDUSTRY.

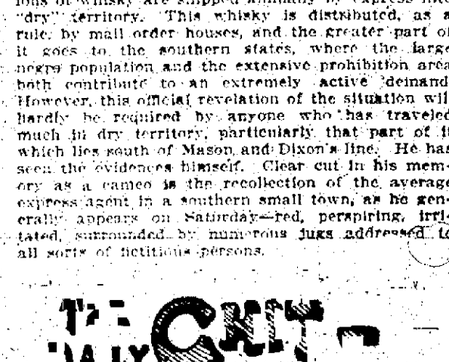

From the Chicago News.

By order of the city council it is made the duty of the judiciary committee of that body to frame an ordinance regulating the sale of deadly weapons. One more ordinance on this subject, particularly if it shall withstand the scrutiny of the courts, will doubtless serve a good purpose—provided it is enforced. Manslaughter in this city has come to be a sort of pastime, if one may draw conclusions from the homicide statistics. The tool kit of the killer should be less readily equipped. While the council is wrestling with the problem of drafting still another ordinance against the promiscuous sale of tools for committing murder it would be well for the public to consider ways and means of increasing general respect for law and regard for human life.

WHISKY BY EXPRESS.

From the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

During an interstate commerce commission inquiry into express classifications at Washington the fact was brought out that over 20,000,000 gallons of whisky are shipped annually by express into "dry" territory. This whisky is distributed, as a rule, by mail order houses, and the greater part of it goes to the southern states, where the large negro population and the extensive prohibition area both contribute to an extremely active demand. However, this official revelation of the situation will hardly be required by anyone who has traveled much in dry territory, particularly that part of it which lies south of Mason and Dixon's line. He has seen the evidences himself. Clear cut in his memory as a cameo is the recollection of the average express agent in a southern small town, as he generally appears on Saturday—red, perspiring, irritated, surrounded by numerous jugs addressed to all sorts of fictitious persons.

"Pretty, you say? Oh, I don't know. I never can bear to look at her long enough to find out. She's always swimming around so."

So a business man commented on a young girl in his office when I asked him if he didn't think she was pretty.

I quote the comment to show how some unpleasant little mannerism can counteract great charm. For the girl really is a very pretty girl.

And the reason I mention the matter at all is that it seems to me a good many of our young girls have unpleasant little mannerisms like this.

I know another girl who has a disagreeable trick of perpetually lifting her hands to her face. Now she rubs her eyes, now she puts her hand to her mouth or passes it across her cheek. This girl is a brilliant girl, an unusually interesting conversationalist and yet I know that her hearer's pleasure is often dissipated by this habit.

Just recently I heard of another girl who was discharged by a rather punctilious business man from her position as his stenographer because she was always taking out her combs and combing up her hair. "She's a good stenographer," he said, "but I want a girl who will arrange her toilet in the privacy of her home and not in my office."

Now, if anyone of these girls should chance to read this article I have no fear that she would recognize herself, for the habit in each case had become, I am sure, almost unconscious.

But the part that puzzles me, the point I want to bring out is this:

The families of those girls could not possibly have been unconscious of these unpleasant little mannerisms, could they?

And what were they thinking of to let them go on?

What were they doing that they hadn't time to attend to such vital matters?

You think "vital" is a pretty strong word for the occasion.

I don't.

Just think. Beauty and brains and efficiency were each nullified by one foolish, unnecessary little habit that might have been so easily nipped in the bud by a little plain speaking.

Of course no outsider can criticise a habit like this without risk of being considered rude and intrusive.

But, equally of course, no family can afford not to speak out on such a matter.

One of the most important functions of the family, I think, is to give us, when we particularly need it, a chance to "see ourselves as others see us."

Nip the unpleasant little mannerism right in the bud. Nip it as gently as possible, but even if you cause a little temporary bitterness, nip it thoroughly, and in the end you will win lasting gratitude—or would I be safer in saying, deserve it?

Slumber Philosophy

BY WALT MASON

The grocer chased me up and down, in sunshine and in shade; he knew I always paid my bills, and yearned to get my trade. He hounded me and pestered me by every human means, until at last I sought his store to buy some boneless beans. He had some mouldy looking clerks, who loafed around the store, and combed their whiskers with their hands and watched the clock and swore. The floor was littered up with jugs and boxes, crates and kegs, containing uninviting fruit, and prehistoric eggs. The floor itself had not been swept since Noah bossed the ark; the windows of the dreary joint with grime and dirt were dark. I took the grocer by the hand and led him to the street, and said: "Some friend should push you down and pat you with his feet. A man who runs a grimy store that's full of grimy clerks some day will see the sheriff come to close the whole blamed works. Go, turn the hose on all those clerks, and clean your dismal joint, and when you ask me for my trade I will not say 'Aroint!'"

Little Boddie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

Oh, husband deer, sed Ma to Pa last nite, Missus Brown is cumming up to the house for dinner, & she is going to bring her only brother with her. He is a actor.

You doant say so, sed Pa. It must be tuff to have only one brother & have him be a actor. What time does the show beegin?

It beegins at 8 o'clock, Ma sed, & I doant want you to be rude & crule to him. You have been acting very raw of late, Ma sed. You doant seem like the same old boy I used to luv. What is the matter with you?

There is nothing the matter with me, Pa sed. I think you will find that I am a gentelman tonite from the start to the finish of the show. I shall be very charmed to meet Mister Brown.

Then Missus Brown & her brother got to the house & Ma interduced them to Pa & me. Her brother was naimed Steve. He had on a funny brown overcoat, he sed that he got in England wen he was playing naver there.

Rite after he had been interduced to Pa he sed Say, chapple, if you doant think this is a jolly good overcoat & all that sort of thing, jest lift it & feel the wate of it. Why, man, it cost me twenty pounds sixpence. Jest raise it.

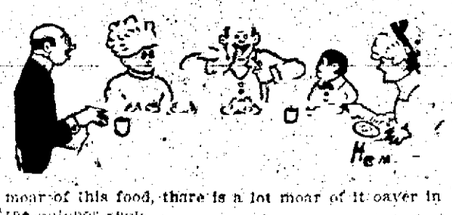

I will, sed Pa, if you will raise yure hat. There is two (2) ladies present. Sure I will reemove my hat, sed Missus Brown's brother. I will let you look at it, too. It cost me a ginny. Notice the swell lining in it. I got it the nite after I made my grate success in the drama called Up the River. I had a jolly lot of press notices & all that sort of bally thing. I got these shoes the same nite, sed Missus Brown's brother. If you think thay are cheap shoes, he sed to Pa, jest count the buttons. I havent got the time or the inclinashun, Pa sed, but if you will drop into the offis tomorrow I will have our expert account-ant count them.

Wen we sat down to the tabel to eet, Steve got awful busy. First he had two plates of supe, & then he had sum fish & then he ate four peeces of stake. One of the peeces belonged to me, but I was lissening to sumthing Missus Brown sed & wen I looked around I had a empty plate.

Art is everything, sed Steve. The common peepul doant understand how we keenyuns get away with it. Thay think we are vulgar & low like themselfs. Did you ever cum in contack with any common peepul? he asked Pa.

Sumtimes I do, sed Pa. As a rule I have notised that they are grate eeters.

You doant say so, sed Steve. I never had a chanst to notis thare tabel manners. I was bred in the purple, you mite say. My folks had a estate in Devonshire. Mine had a estate in Chippewa Falls, sed Pa. We called it a farm. Have sum moar of this food, thare is a lot moar of it oaver in the cubberd sumb.

You doant know how I enjoy this simpel, hoamly repast I am eetting, sed Missus Brown's brother Steve. Living in the costly hotels oaver on the continent, you know, makes one lose one appy-tite for the table. It is reely refreshing, he sed, to drop in now & then & eet simple, common food.

So I obaerve, sed Pa. There is a lot of supe left. Maybe you wud like to start in all oaver agaenn. I am a frend of any man that marries a frend of my wife.

But after Steve wife gone Pa sed differnt.

The Diamond As a Gift

Makes an ideal gift for any occasion. There is not, and cannot be, anything better. They are the supreme symbol of value, and their beauty and worth are as enduring as time itself. As an engagement gift, or as a wedding anniversary gift, we don't know of anything that would be more acceptable or more appropriate.

The Robinson Jewelry Co.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

July 6, 1881.

The New England Kitchen, recently opened by J. W. Purdy on North Tejon street, was becoming the most popular restaurant in town.

Water was shut off from the city during a large part of the day in order to clean out the reservoir.

Irving Howbert and family went to Twin Lakes, which was then a favorite summer resort for Colorado Springs people.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

July 6, 1891.

President H. G. Lunt of the Chamber of Commerce appointed standing committees for the year, including the following, who, with Judge Lunt, are still living in Colorado Springs: W. S. Jackson, J. A. Hayes, John Lennox, J. P. Barnes, J. F. Humphrey, George Rex Buckman, E. W. Giddings, Dr. W. F. Slocum, S. J. Dunbar, S. H. Kinsley.

The Gazette published a novel interview with the following self-explanatory headlines: "Graduation of Thieves Described by One of Them." The author, Jed Jukes, took the position that most thieves take a regular training course, although he admitted that "a few are driven to steal through hunger."

An article in The Gazette described the rapid rise of realty values in Manitou, citing the Barker house (now the Navajo, owned by C. A. Pollen), which Colonel C. W. Parker bought in 1880, and the Cliff house, which then, as now, was the property of E. E. Nichols.

Seven Seasons

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is no one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 1 THE SIEGE OF LONDONDERRY

James II fled in December, 1688, to Lough. Signals were given and answered, but the ships lay at anchor for weeks.

France, from the revolution in England which gave his throne to his daughter Mary, and her husband, William of Orange. He received aid from the French king and was landed in Ireland the following March, to attempt the maintenance of his sovereignty in the kingdom, if no more. Almost immediately upon his arrival he led his forces against Londonderry, where a great part of the protestants of Ulster had taken refuge, and William and Mary had been proclaimed. The city in 1689 was contained within the walls, and it rose by a gentle ascent from the base to the summit of a hill.

The whole city was thus exposed to the fire of an enemy. There was no moat nor counterscarp. A ferry crossed the river Foyle from the east gate, and the north gate opened upon a quay. At the entrance of the Foyle was the strong fort of Culmore, with a small fort on the opposite bank. About two miles below the city were two forts—Charles fort and Grange fort. The trumpeter, sent by the king with a summons to the obstinate city, found the inhabitants "in very great disorder, having turned out their governor, Lundy, upon suspicion."

The cause of this unexpected reception was the presence of "one Walker, a minister." He was opposed to Lundy, who thought the place untenable, and counseled the townsmen to make conditions; "but the fierce minister of the gospel, being of the true Cromwellian or Cameronian stamp, inspired them with bolder resolutions."

The Reverend George Walker and Major Baker were appointed governors during the siege. They mustered 7,020 soldiers, dividing them into regiments under eight colonels. In the town there were about 30,000 souls, but they were reduced to a less burdensome number, 10,000 accepting an offer of the besieging commander to restore them to their dwellings. There were, according to Lundy's estimation, only provisions for 10 days. The number of cannon possessed by the besieged was only 20. On the 20th of April the city was invested, and the bombardment was begun. No impression was made during nine days upon the determination to hold out, and on the 20th King James retraced his steps to Dublin, in considerable illhumor. The siege went on for six weeks with little change. Hamilton was now the commander of James' forces.

The garrison of Londonderry and the inhabitants were gradually perishing from fatigue and insufficient food. But they bravely repelled an assault, in which 400 of the assailants fell. Across the narrow part of the river, from Charles fort to Grange fort, the enemy stretched a great boom of firtimber, joined by iron chains, and fastened on either shore by cables a foot thick. On the 15th of June an English fleet of 30 sail was descried in the

At the end of June, Baker, one of the heroic governors, died. Hamilton had been superseded in his command by Rosen, who issued a savage proclamation, declaring that unless the place were surrendered by the first of July, he would collect all the protestants from the neighboring districts, and drive them under the walls of the city to starve with those within the walls. A famished troop came thus beneath the walls of Londonderry, where they lay starving for three days.

The besieged immediately threatened to hang all the prisoners within the city. This threat had its effect, and the famished crowd wended back their way to their solitary villages. It is but justice to James to say that he expressed his displeasure at this proceeding. The state of the city, hour by hour became more frightful. The number of the inhabitants had been thinned more by famine and disease than by the fire of the enemy. Yet that fire was sharper and more constant than ever. Every attack was still repelled. But the fighting men of the garrison were so much exhausted that they could scarcely keep their legs. Several of them, in the act of striking at the enemy, fell down from mere weakness. A very small quantity of grain remained, and was doled out by mouthfuls. The stock of salted hides was considerable, and by gnawing them the garrison appeased the rage of hunger. Dogs, fattened on the blood of the slain, who lay unburied round the town, were luxuries, which few could afford to purchase.

The whole city was poisoned by the stench exhaled from the bodies of the dead and of the half dead. It was no slight aggravation of the sufferings of the garrison that all this time the English ships were seen far off in Lough Foyle. At length, positive orders from England compelled Kirke, the commander of the relieving expedition, to make an attempt which, as far as appears, he might have made, with at least an equally fair prospect of success, six weeks earlier. Two merchant ships, the Mountjoy and the Phoenix, loaded with provisions, and the Dartmouth, a frigate of 36 guns, made a bold dash up the river, broke the great boom, ran the gauntlet of forts and batteries, and reached the city at 10 o'clock in the evening of July 28. The captain of the Mountjoy was killed in the heroic undertaking, but Londonderry, his native town, was saved. The enemy continued their bombardment for three days more. But, on the third night, flames were seen arising from the camp, and, when the first of August dawned, a line of smoking ruins marked the site lately occupied by the huts of the besiegers. So ended this great siege, the most memorable in the annals of the British Isles. It had lasted 105 days.

[COLORADO CITY] IS [ILLEGIBLE] [IN] [LOCAL] [OPTION] [CONTEST]

That the city of Colorado City is sufficiently interested in the local option election contest to warrant the employment of special legal counsel was the decision of Judge Owen in the district court yesterday morning, when he granted a petition of Attorney S. H. Kinsley for a peremptory writ of mandamus compelling Mayor P. L. Hamble of Colorado City to sign a warrant for $250 in Kinsley's favor authorized by the Colorado City council. The court held that the chance that the city may lose the $18,000 revenue derived from saloon licenses, if the city was made dry, made the town vitally interested in the outcome of the case soon to be heard in the district court on its merits.

Each Couple Witnesses Wedding of the Other

A double wedding, at which the contracting parties acted as witnesses for each other, was performed in the office of the county clerk yesterday morning by Justice O. R. Dunnington. C. J. Crispin, 21 and Eulalia Mock, 18; Harry L. Noble, 21, and Annie Elkins, 18, all of Fowler, Colo., were the happy couples.

Marriage licenses were granted also by the county clerk to Samuel Barton, 29, York, Neb., and Elfrieda Scharnweber, 28, Davenport, Ia.; and R. H. White and Catherine H. Osborn, both of Midland, Colo.

PROMINENT SPRINGS ELKS LEAVE FOR GRAND LODGE

Rush L. Holland, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks; O. P. Grimes and W. F. Moreland, past exalted rulers, and Mrs. Holland, all of Colorado Springs, will leave for Denver this afternoon at 4:15 to join the Colorado Elks special train, which leaves Denver over the Burlington road tonight. The Elks from this city will travel in a special car, accompanied by the Elks from Cripple Creek and Victor.

The grand lodge at Atlantic City opens next Tuesday, and en route the Colorado Elks will be given receptions by the Elks at Lincoln, Omaha, Chicago, Pittsburg and other cities.

Dr. A. F. Hart of New York and Verne Skinner, both formerly of Colorado Springs, will also be at the grand lodge meeting.

NEW BOOK BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ON THE PRESS

The first issue of the Chamber of Commerce book, "The Pikes Peak Region, America's Playground," is now on the press, and by the end of the week the first "run" will be sent to the Denver information bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. In 10 days it is expected the second "run" will be ready for distribution to residents of this city.

The book, which has been described in The Gazette, is an excellent example of the pamphlet-maker's art. It contains about 50 half-tone cuts and accompanying boost reading matter.

[COG ROAD] [TRAFFIC] [HEAVIEST] [FOR] [ANY] [JUNE]

Traffic over the Pikes Peak Cog road for the month just closed has been the heaviest for any June in its history, according to President C. W. Sells. The early movement of tourists to Colorado this summer, coupled with the large number of conventions held during June in Denver and on the Pacific coast, have combined to break all traffic records throughout the entire Pikes Peak region.

The Retail Grocers association, International Sunday School association, American Dental Trades, Christian Church convention, Society of Surgeons, American Medical society and National Educational association and some of the larger of the organizations whose annual meetings have been held either in Denver or on the coast. Delegates to all these conventions have been routed through Colorado Springs, spending from one to four days here.

For all these associations, the Cog road has operated special trains, varying in number from one to eight. The rapidly growing popularity of the Pikes Peak Cog trip is attributed by Mr. Sells largely to extensive eastern publicity which the road received last winter and spring.

The Cog road has already unusually heavy bookings extending through July and August into September, and this fact, with the additional consideration that the Pikes Peak region is already numbering its tourists by many thousands makes it a foregone conclusion that the present season will be a big record-breaker.

Mrs. Mary F. Hickey, Head Nurse at Glockner for 10 Years, to Take Charge at St. Vincent's.

Mrs. Mary F. Hickey, for 10 years head nurse at Glockner sanatorium, left last night for St. Vincent's hospital, New York, where she will have charge of the tubercular patients. Mrs. Hickey is known all over the state as one of the most competent nurses in tubercular troubles in the country. Her long experience in Colorado Springs makes her especially fitted to assume her duties in the New York institution.

ASHER DISCHARGED; ASKS FOR AN INVESTIGATION

W. D. Asher, caretaker of the city's water system at Seven Lakes, who was discharged by Mayor Avery yesterday, following an investigation, has asked the civil service commission to investigate his case.

He says that he requested Mayor Avery to prefer charges against him, but could get no definite information as to why he was removed. He says it is possible that the discharge came because he served meals not up to the standard to the city employes a month ago, but further states the meal service was improved two weeks ago. He denied tampering with the water system, as vaguely charged.

Mr. Asher admitted there arose trouble between the city and Representative Nuttle of the Short Line railroad several months ago concerning water rights. The railway company has a power plant above Lake Moraine, which is operated by a water wheel in the city's line of ditches from the upper mountains. When the trouble arose the water was cut off from this ditch and run over the mountain side into Lake Moraine through an open gorge. This, he says, was responsible for the muddy condition of the water a few weeks ago.

SUGAR BEET INTERESTS SPRINGS MEN DAMAGED

Considerable damage to the beet sugar interests of J. R. McKinnie and R. P. Davie of this city resulted from the Mexican revolution. Much of the beet growing land supplying beets for their Phoenix, Ariz., factory, is south of the international line, and the beets there are dead, because the Americans were unable to irrigate them in the early part of the growing season. There appears no possibility of redress from the Madero government.

Mr. Davie will spend the summer with his family at his ranch near Rifle, Colo.

County Commissioners Refuse to Pay Fees in Vag Cases---Up to City

On the ground that it is the duty of the city to care for its own vagrants, the county commissioners refuse to pay witness, constable or other fees in vagrancy cases tried in the justice courts. The commissioners base their right to such action on a supreme court decision given by Justice George M. Musser, which they allege gives the commissioners discretionary power as to payment of all fees.

According to the commissioners, the cost of trial and caring for vagrants amounts to $400 a month. They assert that the city should care for its own vagrants and save the county this amount. In refusing to pay fees, they believe that they can put a stop to the commitment of vagrants to the county jail.

The commissioners contend that the city may establish a rock pile, work vagrants on it, and thus save the cost to the county.

Old Volunteer Firemen May Take Part in the Colo. Springs Carnival

Members of the old volunteer fire companies that existed before the days of the paid department are considering a proposition to take part in the fortieth anniversary of the city by joining in the parade and also holding a reunion. George Alter, Sr., a member of an old hook and ladder company, has advertised the following letter to his old companions:

"I wish to ask J. F. Burns, E. E. Baty, Nels Johnson, Frank Johnson, R. H. Ashworth, Billy Pancroft, the St. John brothers, and other members of the Crowells, Jacksons, Matt. France, Hooks and members of the Sintons, Reeds, Fa[illegible]ins and Adams Hose companies previous to the installing of the paid department, if it wouldn't be a very proper thing for us old volunteers to get together on our 40th anniversary and have a reunion and take part in the parade to be held in honor of that event. I know if Uncle Bailey was here he would be wishing for his boys, as he called us, to be there. If you are in favor of the above, I suggest that you call a meeting at the City Hall at your earliest convenience to make all necessary arrangements."

[WORK] [FOR] [602] [IN] [JUNE] [BY] [STATE] EMPLOYMENT [IDEA]

Six hundred and two men and women were given employment last month through the state free employment office in this city, according to the monthly report of Superintendent Bishop. Mr. Bishop states that the number given employment is well up to the average for June.

The report shows that a large part of the employment work is the result of increased tourist travel, which is exceptionally early this year.

Societies and Clubs

OKLAHOMA TO HAVE PART IN DRY FARM CONGRESS

Oklahoma will have a part in the International Dry Farming congress and exposition next October, according to a letter that Dr. A. C. Magruder has received from Dr. J. H. Connell, president of the Agricultural and Mechanical college at Stillwater.

Dr. Magruder, who is a member of the board of control of the congress, was a schoolmate of President Connell, and wrote to his friend inquiring if something could not be done to get Oklahoma in line. Heretofore the state has been shut out of the exposition because of the rule that only lands having a fall of less than 20 inches of rain should be permitted to compete. This year the exposition committee has ruled that regions with as high as 25 inches shall be included, if evaporation and other local conditions reduce the productivity to an estimate equal to under 20 inches, which would affect Oklahoma.

President Connell's letter to Dr. Magruder is as follows:

"I take pleasure in assuring you that you may confidently expect co-operation from Oklahoma in the matter of the Dry Farming congress, which this year will be held so near our territory that we can conveniently send delegates.

"Oklahoma has experienced the worst drought in her history—more severe than 1910 and there will be little urging needed to cause the people to turn to both dry farming and irrigation for assistance.

"Please send me some literature concerning the next session of the congress, and I shall take pleasure in laying it before the state board of agriculture, which meets July 15.

"Once the matter has been placed on foot the college can do much to keep the congress before the public through its news service, supplied to a number of state papers."

Daylight Burglar Enters Unlocked Door and Gets Away With Articles of Small Value.

Walking through an unlocked door Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, a daylight burglar entered the home of John Cummings in the rear of 1815 North Nevada avenue, and stole a suit case, a gray suit of clothes and a few trinkets of small value.

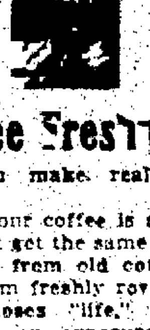

According to the theory of the police, the work was done by a sneak thief and not by the professional crooks who have been working the city, since the goods taken are of slight value, and would be scorned by high-class burglars.

DECISION SUSTAINED

The decision of former District Judge L. W. Cunningham in favor of Mrs. Ida Price in her case against the New York Life Insurance company, was sustained recently by the state supreme court. J. R. Carter, Mrs. Price's first husband, took out a policy for $2,000, giving his note for 30 days in payment of the first premium. Twenty-six days afterward he was shot and killed, no money having been paid on the policy. The company refused to pay, and the suit was brought.

Judge Owen gave a verdict in favor of the defendant in the district court yesterday morning, in the damage suit of the Ira J. Morse Commission company against the Colorado and Southern Railroad company.

Mrs. Susie Huffman was adjudged insane in the county court yesterday morning and was taken to the Woodcroft sanatorium in Pueblo. She is laboring under the hallucination that someone is trying to kidnap her.

J. B. Herriott and H. A. Norton of Green Mountain Falls, partners in the management of the Green Mountain Falls bathhouse and bowling alley, were each fined $50 and costs in police court at that place yesterday, for selling beer without a license.

Ten dollars and costs was the fine of Austin Ford in police court yesterday morning for slapping his wife and creating a disturbance.

Meyer Zlman, proprietor of a second-hand store, was fined $50 and costs in police court yesterday for operating his business without a license.

H. J. Johnson, a negro, was fined $40 and costs in police court yesterday morning for disturbance.

A direct information charging Charles Trout with the illegal sale of liquor was filed in the district court yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Martin M. Burns. The man was arraigned on a charge of bootlegging in a Colorado City justice court last week, pleading not guilty. The alleged offense occurred on June 25.

CHURCH OF CHRIST RULED BY MAMMON, SAYS BOYER

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 5.—"The church proclaims liberty, equality, fraternity. It is a lie," declared the Rev. F. B. Boyer, of New Bedford, in an address yesterday before the New England conference for church work in progress at the Episcopal Theological seminary.

"The world is tired of the church of 'Christ making excuses to mammon.'" he continued. "The formulas of a Christian commonwealth are still read in our churches but they are very little practiced. The church lays great stress upon life after death, but the workingman struggling for bread believes that God ought to prove his justice here. They want a God who is working here today, not a God of yesterday. The people are beginning to doubt the goodness of God; they are beginning to doubt the very existence of God."

FAMOUS WOMEN SHOWN ON SUFFRAGE FLOAT

CHICAGO, July 5.—Although the suffragists were not permitted to take part as a political organization, or to take advantage of the occasion to plead for "votes for women," in yesterday's Independence Day celebration, they were there in strength to show the part woman has played in the history of civilization. Their float showing woman's service to the state was one of the most instructive in the demonstration. Queen Isabella, Florence Nightingale, Joan of Arc, Maria Theresa and Harriet Beecher Stowe were shown attired in the costumes of their respective periods and ranks.

HENWOOD TO ENTER PLEA OF FORMER JEOPARDY

DENVER, July 5.—The trial of Harold F. Henwood for the killing of Sylvester L. Von Phul at the same time that George E. Copeland was slain by Henwood, was called this morning in the west side court and put over until Monday. Arguments will be heard Saturday on the motion of Henwood's attorney to withdraw Henwood's plea of not guilty and of leave to file a motion on a plea of former jeopardy. Henwood was found guilty last week of murder in the second degree for killing Copeland.

WRECKS $10,000 MONOPLANE

NEW YORK, July 5.—In its maiden flight a $10,000 new idea monoplane equipped with twin revolving motors and twin propellors was wrecked beyond repair today at the Mineola aviation field and its pilot, Arthur Stone, was stunned and badly cut, but escaped miraculously with his life. The monoplane was designed by Willis McCormick. It showed plenty of speed, but proved unruly at the turns and the stiff wind, blowing finally upset it when it was 50 feet above the earth.

SHOOTS AT TARGET BUT HITS MAN IN STOMACH

PITTSBURG, July 5.—Jay Moore, aged 21, was struck in the stomach by a bullet and perhaps mortally wounded yesterday while standing on a ball field ready to catch a fly ball. The shot is supposed to have been fired by Ernest Stevenson, a neighbor who lives near the ball ground and who was firing at a mark. Moore is in a hospital in a critical condition.

Two bullets had whizzed by the spectators and Stevenson was warned that his mark was in a dangerous place. A few moments later Moore was hit.

RAINS HELP CROPS

GREELEY, July 5.—Every locality in this county has had rain in the last two days and as a result crops never were more promising at this season and farmers say they celebrated yesterday with more than the usual spirit of patriotism.

The Poudre and Platte rivers are rising and ditches are running full with surplus water going into the reservoirs. The prospect for a good supply for late irrigation is the best in years and this means the making of the best sugar and potato crops.

"No, by not paying her what I owe her."

Ice Creams Puddings Biscuit

Made With Germless Milk

Ma'am, here is a question a daily question of prime importance to you and yours. May give us a moment's hearing.

There are myriads of women who have ceased the use of raw, germ-laden milk. Some have done it for safety, some for economy, some to get better food.

They are using Van Camp's—a sterile milk from pure bred Holstein cows. They get a whole, rich milk with the whole-milk flavor. They make milk dishes with it such as milkman's milk never makes.

They have it always on hand—the cow right in the pantry. And their milk bills, since they started, have been cut in two.

All of those benefits are open to you in this rich, hygienic milk.

Thick as Thick Cream

Van Camp's Milk as it comes to you is as thick as thick cream. So thick that you add one part water for coffee, for cooking or ice cream. It is 28 per cent solids—8 per cent butter fat.

This is how we reduce it:

The milk fresh from the cow is put into a vacuum. There we evaporate two-thirds of the water, just to save shipping bulk. On account of the vacuum, the water is evaporated in a moderate heat, without scorching.

Nothing is added, as there is to condensed milk—no sugar, no starch, no preservative. Nothing is subtracted save water. When you put back that water the milk is the same—save for sterilization as it was when it came from the cow.

Peach Ice Cream

Mix two cans of Van Camp's Milk with one can of cold water that has been boiled. Dissolve in this three fourths pound of granulated sugar, turn into the freezer and freeze. Pare and mash one quart peaches. Mash these and mix in the frozen cream. Crank the freezer several times and let harden.

Write for our book of 131 recipes, including all sorts of ice cream.

Van Camp Packing Co. Indianapolis, Ind.

Utterly Sterile

The evaporated milk is sterilized by heat—after the can is sealed. The milk when you get it is utterly sterile. Not a germ of any kind can exist in it.

Raw milk, as you know, contains millions of germs. Van Camp's contains none at all. This sterilization is now considered essential. Careful people won't use milk without it.

Whole-Milk Flavor

Milk dishes made with Van Camp's Milk are exceedingly rich and savory. Dishes made of milkmen's milk cannot compare with them.

Some women think that this flavor is due to something artificial, but it isn't. It is simply the flavor of whole, rich milk.

Milkmen's milk separates. The butter fat rises and the solids fall. When that milk gets to the cooking it is rarely more than a half-milk.

Van Camp's cannot separate. It contains too little water. So it brings to your milk dishes the whole-milk flavor. When you learn what that means you will never cook without it.

Milk Bills Cut in Two

When Van Camp's is reduced to the usual milk's richness the cost will figure about six cents per quart.

The saving lies in the cost of daily delivery—the main cost of milkman's milk. We save that huge expense.

Then Van Camp's saves waste. You have no milk left over. You never run short. You open a can when you need it, and it keeps till you use it up.

This saving in cost and the saving in waste mean a saving of half on your milk bills.

Cost Us $100,000

The seven years spent in perfecting this milk have cost us $100,000. The ablest Swiss and Dutch experts have been engaged on it. All to give you an unscorched milk—changeless and utterly sterile.

Our cows are Holsteins, constantly inspected. Our dairies are models of cleanliness. Our evaporating plants are built without wood.

You get the best milk produced in America, at the price of the ordinary, when you get Van Camp's.

The 16-oz. cans—a full pint—costs 10 cents. The 6-oz. can costs 5 cents. Your grocer has it, shipped from our nearest dairy.

A scene from the Garden of the Gods will be reproduced on the 20,000 postcards to be given away next Saturday by the Chamber of Commerce, and it is expected that the beautiful view will so captivate residents and visitors alike that the supply will be exhausted before 6 o'clock, as was last Saturday's supply.

The accompanying cut shows another view to be reproduced on a series of 20,000 cards to be given away some Saturday this month. It indicates the excellent work done on the Ute Pass highway during the spring and winter by convicts under the supervision of the penitentiary officials and the county commissioners.

ALLEGED LUMBER TRUST MEN IN PRISON GARB

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 5.—Charles P. Chase and Ernest Newton Bagg, both of whom are named in the suit recently brought by the government against the alleged lumber trust, easily carried off the honors in the Fourth of July parade here. The two men, wearing regulation prison uniforms and with their hair closely cropped, rode in a steel prison cell, barred and bolted, resting on a float, which was drawn by four horses. The float bore this inscription:

"Local members of the alleged lumber trust getting free board."

Messrs. Chase and Bagg sat on wooden stools. With perspiration rolling down their faces, they acknowledged by gestures with palm leaf fans the continuous roar of applause that followed the passage of the float through the crowded streets.

Mr. Chase, who is [illegible] Springfield board of trade and also president of the largest lumber corporation in Springfield, was for seven years president of the Massachusetts Retail Dealers association, which is one of the defendants in Attorney General Wickersham's suit. Mr. Bagg who is secretary of the Massachusetts Retail Dealers association, is named in the bill of complaint.

TWO CHILDREN AND HOME OF MILLIONAIRE BURNS

VIBORG, Finland, July 5.—The palatial country house here of Ludwig Nobel, the multimillionaire oil magnate of St. Petersburg, was destroyed by fire last night. Mr. Nobel's son and daughter, aged 7 and 6, respectively, were burned to death. Their governess made heroic efforts to save her charges and on failing went raving mad and attempted suicide. The parents were at St. Petersburg at the time of the disaster.

What the Press Agents Say

"THE TRANSGRESSOR" TONIGHT

The last performance of "The Transgressor" will be given at the Opera House tonight by the Theodore Lorch stock company. "The Transgressor" has had a most successful edgagement at the Opera House this week, pleasing every one who saw it. The entire company has ample opportunity for showing its strength in this drama.

The power of love is shown in "The Transgressor." It is because of his great love for his daughter that George Forrester leads a double life. Circumstances have forced him to do things he does not want his child to know, and for love of her he does many things which ordinarily he would never even think of doing. In contrast to this pure fatherly love is the love Mercedes has for Forrester. Here is, perhaps, not as pure, but it is as great and transcends all material considerations. She is a masterful woman of big emotions. She can hate as much as she can love. "The Transgressor," dealing with the greater emotions of life, is a very fine drama, well worth seeing. The Lorch company play it in the usual Lorch manner.

"St. Elmo," a dramatization of Augusta Evans' novel of the same title, will be presented at the Opera House tomorrow and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee for the only times this season. "St. Elmo" is as interesting a play as it is a story. Its success everywhere has been phenomenal. Its revival at the Opera House tomorrow by the Lorch company has awakened great interest among the many patrons of the Opera House. Seats may be secured at any time for the performance of "St. Elmo."

IS ANYBODY LOOKING FOR A WIDOW? YES?

Is anybody in Colorado Springs looking for a widow—a real, live widow like you read about in books and see depicted in the magazine? A widow who is young and pretty and has an Anna Held figure and can sing and is lonely, and, presumably, is a good housekeeper, as well as a vivacious companion, and wears widow's weeds and a merry widow hat and mourns poor John whenever she isn't thinking about who his successor will be?

Well, if you are, just go to the Majestic theater either today or tomorrow and take an inventory of the girl who masquerades under the name of "Miss" Blossom Robinson, otherwise known as the girl with the mirror dress. You will see her in two or three roles and two or three costumes, one of the former of which is an imitation of Vesta Victoria, the famous English comedienne, in that clever song, "Is Anybody Looking for a Widow?" We have never seen Vesta, but if she can play the part of a winsome widow any better than the self-same Miss Blossom Robinson does, she must have turned down several thousand offers of matrimony by this time.

Incidentally, Miss Robinson introduces in the mirror dress a novelty that is picturesque, so much so that the effect of the light flashing from the scores of little mirrors on her dress must be seen to be appreciated. But to get back to the main theme, anyone who is looking for a widow of her style would do well to see Mr. Billy Link first, because there is a link between them that causes Miss Robinson to wear a Mrs. on the stage.

If this causes any sorrow, stay over to the next show and see Laughing Billy Link himself. He'll take all the blues out of your system with that grasp the opportunity to note [illegible] Picadilly Johnnies will help it along, and the Salambos with their electrical wizardry will get you so interested that you will forget you ever were disappointed while looking for a widow. With the Majestiscope pictures and concert orchestra program your pleasure will be complete.

This fine bill closes tomorrow night. Performances at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:10. Admission only 10, 20 and 30 cents.

OUT FOR BLOOD SUNDAY

The long-standing rivalry between the Robbins and the Black Sox will be decided Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Roswell park, when the two teams meet to play off the tie between them. The winner is to take all the gate receipts, and in addition a purse of $60 a side has been raised.

Practice games have been played up to this time by the teams, but the game Sunday is to be the real article. Both teams will be made up of veterans. For the Robbins boys, White will be on the slab, with Bad Bruce receiving. Thompson, whose work won praise in last Sunday's game, will roll the pills for the Black Sox, with Price as an able understudy.

PLAY PROTESTED GAME OVER IN NATIONAL SOON

NEW YORK, July 5.—The protested Chicago-Pittsburg National game of the morning of May 30, will have to be played over. This announcement was made at National League headquarters tonight.

The game will be played off in Pittsburg, on a date to be arranged later.

HENLEY REGATTA OPENS

HENLY-ON-THAMES, Eng., July 5.—The Henley regatta opened under ideal conditions today. The only contest of special trans-Atlantic interest today was furnished by the preliminary heats for the stewards challenge cup. The Ottawa rowing club won its heat defeating the London rowing club in seven minutes and 55 seconds.

DOUBLES IN WOMEN'S TENNIS PLAY TODAY

KANSAS CITY, July 5.—In the third round of the third annual Missouri Valley women's tennis tournament today, Mrs. Theodore Entz, of St. Louis, state champion, won in a closely contested contest from Miss Helen McPherrin, a young Kansas City player. The score was 7-5; 6-2.

Other fast matches were between Miss Patience Hocker of Independence, and Miss Grace Lawrence of Kansas City, in which Miss Hocker won 6-2; 4-6; 6-3, and between Miss Lysle Hayes and Miss Janet McCoun of Kansas City. Miss Hayes won 6-3; 5-7; 6-3.

The third round was finished today. The doubles will begin tomorrow.

EITHER PHILADELPHIA OR NEW YORK GETS BIG BOUT

PUEBLO, July 5.—The Jim Flynn-Carl Morris battle will likely be staged in Philadelphia or near New York city, according to information received today by Flynn from Richard Ufer, manager of Morris.

While Flynn is willing to go to either place, he prefers Philadelphia, as he is a little afraid of interference in New York. Ufer stated in his letter that he would likely make definite arrangements for the battle in a few days.

OVERLAND BOWLERS WIN

By a score of 342 pins, the team from the Overland bowling alleys defeated the Brunswicks in a match played on the Overland alleys last night. The team scores were 2,494 for the Overlands as against 2,142 for the Brunswicks.

King Cole, who has of late become the main reliance on the mound of Frank Chance's Chicago clubs, and who is just now going at a gait that compares with any slinger in the big arena. Chance predicted at the close of last year's disastrous world's series that Cole would be his mainstay this year, and time has proved that he did not miss his guess. Cole is in type, much like Russell Ford, the versatile heaver of the New York Yankees. He has almost every conceivable kind of delivery in his repertoire and has speed to burn. When his control is in working order, there is not a man in the business more feared by the Magees, Wagners, Leaches and Breadnahans than this young ox of a man.

ACCIDENT AT LAGOON PARK

SALT LAKE, July 5.—An ordinary card was offered at the Lagoon Track this afternoon. Jockey Selden was painfully if not fatally injured when Clueny whom he was schooling at the barrier broke through the fence. The boy's left leg was broken in two places and he was hurt internally. The horse, an unbeaten 3-year-old was destroyed, having cut herself badly. Jockey Hopkins will be restricted to riding for his stable for one week for unsatisfactory riding.

DRINKING CUPS BARRED ON NEW JERSEY TRAINS

NEW YORK, July 5.—There is water, water everywhere on the trains in New Jersey, and not a drop to drink, unless the passenger has his individual drinking cup. A law recently signed by Governor Wilson, prohibiting public drinking cups in the state, went into effect yesterday and was very generally observed by the railroads.

As a result thousands of pleasure seekers in trains crowded to their capacity experienced some very real suffering. Hundreds left their trains at inland stations to get something to drink, trusting to luck to get another train later.

Aeroplanes and balloons were exported last year from the United Kingdom to the values of $274,000. Very few have been exported from the United States.

NEW TYPE FIGHTING SHIP

LONDON, July 5.—The approaching doom of the battleship of the dreadnaught and superdreadnaught type has become a live question in the British naval circles. Sir Phillip Watts, admiralty director of naval construction, is credited with having designed already an entirely new type of fighting ship.

Next year's naval program anticipates the retention of the all-big-gun principle, but it is believed that the ships will be considerably smaller in displacement, averaging between 17,000 and 18,000 tons.

It is expected that this new type will be superior to the present battleships in fighting in shallow waters and through the fact that it will not offer such a fine target for the enemy as the dreadnaughts now in commission.

VOTE ON RECIPROCITY WILL NOT BE PRESSED

WASHINGTON, July 5.—At a conference of senators today participated in by Messrs. Penrose and Smoot, Republicans, and Martin and Stone, Democrats, it was decided not to press daily for the fixing of a date to vote on the reciprocity bill so long as there are senators prepared to speak.

It was determined, however, to endeavor to fix the hour of convening daily at 11 a. m. instead of noon.

A SQUARE-DEAL

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and these are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless—even to the most delicate women and children.

Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles from them, viz., pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or other organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures even the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on-coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

To find out more about the above mentioned diseases and all about the body in health and disease, get the Common Sense Medical Adviser—the People's Schoolmaster in Medicine—1008 pages in all—up to date book of 1000 pages—which treats of diseased conditions and the practical, rational means of cure. Larry Doyle, captain and second baseman of Johnny McGraw's New York Giants, who is setting the pace for his charges by proving himself one of the foremost pinch-hitters of the season. Captain Doyle's average, less than .250 as a whole, is over .390 when you count the times he faces the pitchers with men on the bases to be driven in. He is most versatile in the art of advancing a man, being a beautiful bunter, sure at lining out a sacrifice fly and able to slam out the desired bingle if a hit is signalled for. Doyle's infield work is almost beyond criticism, and it is doubtful whether even Eddie Collins or Johnny Evers can claim anything better than the class of work being put up by the Giant second sacker at the present stage of the National league marathon.

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, July 5. A surface discovery of importance has been made at this late date, on the western slope of Gold hill, on the property of the Ethel Louise Gold Mining company, by G. A. Orr and associate lessees.

A prospecting shaft, sunk not below the wash, was the source of discovery, in that the float taken out showed gold. It has developed that an overflow from some vein, not yet exposed, has enriched the hill side, and the lessees are piling ore into the temporary plat or ore bin that returns values of from $25 to $30 to the ton. The Ethel Louise Gold Mining company is a close corporation controlled by Irving Howbert and Colorado Springs associates.

Coriolanus Producing.

Sidney Robbins and associates leasing on the Coriolanus mine on the southern slope of Battle mountain, is constructing an ore house at the mouth of the Columbine-Victor tunnel, in Eclipse Gulch, and will shortly commence to ship. Robbins has opened up an ore shoot by crosscut from the tunnel lateral, and has better than 100 tons of ore broken. The mine formerly owned by the Coriolanus Gold Mining company is now owned by Colonel T. B. Burbridge, at one time secretary of the Cripple Creek Mine Owners and Operators association.

Strike on Hull City.

Sam Tarbett and associates, lessees of the Vindicator Consolidated Gold Mining company, operating a block of ground on the south end of the Hull City, near to the Longfellow side line, have exposed a strong vein at a depth of about 50 feet from surface, in sinking a new shaft. Assays on the quartz give values as high as 15 and 20 ounces gold to the ton. The ground, long neglected, is located but a few feet from the main street of Independence. The street, once a prominent thoroughfare between Altman and Goldfield, is now lined with dumps from the Vindicator, Findley and Hull City properties. The Longfellow claims are owned by the Stratton estate.

Ruble Lessees Expose Ore.

Shimp and partners leasing on the southeastern end of the Ruble claim on Bull hill, near to the Last Dollar line, will load out a 30-ton shipment tomorrow. The lessees have opened up ore of high value at comparatively shallow depth less than 50 feet, in a new shaft sunk for prospect purposes.

Granite Output.

Lessees of the Granite Gold Mining company, operating blocks on the Gold Coin, Granite, Dillon and Monument mines on Battle mountain made production of 80 cars in June. The average value of the ore consigned to the mill of the United States Reduction and Refining company at Colorado City was close to $30 to the ton.

Waiting doesn't pay.
If you neglect the aching back.
Urinary troubles surely follow
Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache
Relieve other kidney ills
Colorado Springs citizens endorse them

William Foulkes, 116 Pueblo Ave., Colorado Springs Colo, says "I shall always speak highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, as they proved most satisfactory in my case. The public statement I gave in 1906 in regard to my experience with this remedy still holds good. Off and on for five years I suffered from disordered kidneys. I had distressing backaches, was nervous and was obliged to arise frequently at night to void the kidney secretions. If they were allowed to stand, sediment was deposited and the passages were painful. My back ached almost constantly and my condition was much worse when I took cold or overexerted myself. Occasionally my right kidney swelled and a lump appeared over it as large as my fist. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and the contents of two boxes made me feel like a different person. I have never had any serious return attack of the trouble and my health has been excellent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 5.—Movement of stocks seemed to be governed largely by the tenor of reports in regard to crop prospects. The selling movement of Monday was resumed on a larger scale and pronounced weakness developed, the action of the market suggesting that it was suffering from the effects of a crop scare. Prices fell from 1 to 2 points in a majority of the active issues, with a break of 3⅝ in Canadian Pacific. Anxiety as to crops was not relieved by the government's weekly weather report, which told of the marked deficiency in precipitation over the agricultural districts and intense heat over a wide area. Excited dealings in grain, especially in corn, also aided bearish operations in stocks. All the European exchanges were weak, owing to the tense situation which has grown out of the Moroccan imbroglio. Official denial that the Erie road was to be affiliated with Canadian Pacific caused a sharp setback in the Eries as well as in the stocks of the Canadian road, and the selling of these issues presumably of a character, was among the day's most prominent features. Both the Hill and Harriman stocks were unusually weak. The Eries, the Harrimans and United States Steel were sold rather heavily from abroad. United States Steel displayed the same power of stubborn resistance to pressure which has characterized its movements recently and lost only a fraction.

The stock may have been influenced by news in regard to the steel and iron trade, which were somewhat more cheerful.

New orders of the United States Steel corporation last Month were placed at 4,000 tons to 5 000 tons above the preceding months.

Attention was again called to the discouraging conditions in the textile industry by dispatches from South Carolina stating that all the cotton mills of the state had entered upon a drastic policy of retrenchment.

There were numerous railroad reports for May, that of the Great Northern being most conspicuous with its loss of net earnings of over $317,000.

Bonds were steadier. Total sales, par value, $2,800,000

United States 4s declined ¼ on call.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, July 5.—There was a wild-fire market today in corn and oats. Heat and drought sent prices far above any level previously reached this season. Closing figures were strong at nearly the top point of the day, with corn up 4⅝c to 5⅜c net, oats at 1¼c to 3¼c up, and wheat showing a gain of ¼c to 1⅝@1¾c. Provisions varied from 5c decline to a greater cost of 15c. Alarming messages from the southwest started corn on the upward rush. Oklahoma and Texas reported crops burned to death in the sizzling heat of the last few days. Southern Kansas reports told of temperatures as high as 110 and no promise of rain or cooler weather. Damage news came also from Missouri, but it was fear as to the prospect of harm spreading widely on both sides of the Mississippi that caused the greatest excitement. Trade all day was immense in volume, so great indeed that profit-taking on a huge scale appeared to be lost sight of in the stampede of new buying. Contributing to the flurry was the fact that oats and hay crops were said to show the lowest condition on record. Toward the end of the session bullish sentiment, far from diminishing, whirled the market nearly a cent beyond the topmost figures touched before.

Shy on Corn Offerings.

One ominous item was that cash dealers reported no offerings of corn from the country. During the day the September option ranged from 64½c to 66⅝c, and at the closing gong was 4⅝c net higher at 66⅝c. Cash grades were firm, although demand from the east was not so good as heretofore. No. 2 yellow closed at 6c@63½c.

In the oats crowd, dealers were agitated to an extent seldom witnessed. According to one leading expert, signs indicated a crop of 300 000 000 bushels les than last year, and besides the condition of hay was put at 66.4 against 80.2 for the corresponding time a year ago. The condition percentage on oats was estimated at 67.2 compared with 87.3 last month. Iowa was officially reported as having fallen off 25 points during June. Under such circumstances due mainly to lack of timely coolness and moisture an active higher market was inevitable. Outside limits reached by the September option proved to be 46⅝@46½c, with last sales 1⅝@1¾c net higher at 46⅝c.

For the most part the rise of the wheat market resulted from sympathy with the big advance of corn and oats. An important factor however, was the idea that North Dakota no longer had a rosy outlook. There was also unfavorable crop developments in Prussia, southwest Russia and Siberia.

As a whole September fluctuated between 90⅝@91⅛c closing steady at 91⅜@91½c, a net gain of 1⅝@1¾c. Liberal exports sustained hog products in the face of a big increase in the world's supplies of lard. When the pit was closed one or two futures exhibited an advance of 12½c to 15c, but on the whole, the market had no substantial change.

AN ORDINANCE

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 21, 1911. The following form of Ordinance was introduced and read at a regular meeting of the City Council, held on June 21, 1911, and was ordered published

CHAS. CHAPMAN, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE
ESTABLISHING A COMMISSION KNOWN AS THE COLORADO SPRINGS UNION DEPOT COMMISSION, PROVIDING FOR ITS APPOINTMENT, AND SPECIFYING ITS DUTIES AND EXISTENCE

WHEREAS, the railway passenger traffic at Colorado Springs is handled at two widely separated stations which were built at an early period, and are devoid of modern conveniences, and entirely inadequate to meet the present and prospective needs of this growing community; and

WHEREAS, there is a popular and reasonable demand that, without unnecessary delay, the railroads entering this city shall erect a thoroughly modern, commodious and well-located union passenger station, to meet the growing needs of the city, and to accommodate the increasingly large tourist traffic centering at Colorado Springs for the Pikes Peak region; and

WHEREAS, resolutions in this behalf have been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of Colorado Springs, and the Board of Commissioners of El Paso county, and have been presented to this council with request that an ordinance be passed providing for the appointment of a Commission to investigate, recommend and report on the matter;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS.

Section 1. That there be and is hereby established a Commission to be known as the Colorado Springs Union Depot Commission, which shall consist of seven (7) members, to serve without compensation, and to be appointed as follows: Two members thereof by the City Council, two members by the Board of County Commissioners, two members by the Chamber of Commerce, from members of that body, and one member by a majority of the six members chosen as above provided. The members of said Commission shall be appointed within thirty days after the passage of this ordinance.

Section 2. The said commission shall fully investigate the present passenger stations in Colorado Springs, including the provisions for handling the passenger traffic, and shall consider ways and means for obtaining the construction of a union passenger station, at such point as will best subserve the interests of all concerned, with sufficient safeguards and conveniences to meet adequately the traffic of this community. Said Commission shall act jointly in the premises, so far as possible, with the railroads entering the city, and shall, within six months after the passage of this ordinance, make and file, with the City Council of Colorado Springs, a report in writing upon the matters herein delegated to it. Similar reports shall be made and filed at least once a year, or whenever called for by the City Council during the life of the Commission.

This said Commission shall continue and remain in force and effect until such time as it shall be duly discharged by order of this Council; Provided, that on the 31st day of December in each and every year commencing with the year 1912 the terms of three members shall expire, in such sequence as may be determined by the said Commission. Vacancies shall be filled by the same bodies, respectively, and in the same manner as provided herein for original appointments to the Commission.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after ten days after its passage and publication as provided by the Charter.

Passed July 5, 1911.

H. F. AVERY,
President of the Council.

ATTEST
CHAS. CHAPMAN,
City Clerk
Approved July 5, 1911

H. F. AVERY,
(SEAL) Mayor.

I, HEREBY CERTIFY, That the foregoing Ordinance entitled "AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING A COMMISSION KNOWN AS THE COLORADO SPRINGS UNION DEPOT COMMISSION, PROVIDING FOR ITS APPOINTMENT, AND SPECIFYING ITS DUTIES AND EXISTENCE," was introduced and read at a regular meeting of the City Council, held on June 21st, 1911. That said Ordinance was passed at a regular meeting of the City Council of said City, held on the 5th day of July, 1911, and the same was published in full in the Colorado Springs Gazette, a newspaper published and in general circulation in said City, at least ten days before its passage.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the City this 5th day of July, A. D. 1911

CHAS CHAPMAN,
(SEAL) City Clerk

Chicken Ranches Galore

If you are here for pleasure but wish a little business for diversion, why not try superintending a chicken ranch? We have very choice properties in all parts of the city and at reasonable prices, some with simply the im-provements, others with stock. Call and let us tell you about them.

The following is one in particular which we can safely recommend as a great bargain: Property consists of five acres with a new, well-built bungalow. Also large barn and chick-en houses. Entire five acres fenced and cross-fenced. Has city water, but is just outside city limits, thus elimi-nating city taxes. Two acres under cultivation. Good city school very near. The bungalow has large front and rear porches, also a good sleeping porch. Property lies high and has a magnificent view of the city. Owner, in order to sell at once, has cut price from $4,500.00 to $3,200.00. Terms can be arranged.

THE PASSING OF THE DUMB

Louise E. Dew, in Harper's Weekly.

Imagine living in a world of eternal silence, where sound is something as inconceivable and beyond understanding as sight to those born blind! Yet such is the fate of one child out of every 1,500. That these deaf children need no longer be segregated in institutions and denied the pleasure of home ties and associations has been thoroughly demonstrated by a remarkable public day-school system of oral work.

When the board of education of New York city opened this school two years ago it was looked upon as an experiment. Now it is recognized throughout the United States as an unqualified success. From an enrollment of 48 pupils in 1908 with 10 classes it now has nearly 200 pupils and 12 classes, including shop-work, cooking, painting, drawing and sewing. The first class to be graduated will be that of 1911. It is the aim of the school to qualify the pupils to enter the trades and professions, and to be self-supporting.

Statistics of the last year show that there are 12,000 deaf pupils in various schools in the United States alone. That the majority of these are taught by oral methods and read the lips perfectly, proves that they are not "dumb" on account of lack of hearing, but lack of instruction. The child usually designated as "deaf and dumb" has as perfect a vocal organization as the speaking child.

OF COURSE THE DOG KNEW

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

"Speaking of lost dogs," said the fancier, "it occurs to me that the most peculiar instance which ever happened to me was this. I had lost a beautiful Airedale terrier which I liked above all my dogs. He was also a pet with my familyy, and would retrieve and fetch and carry and all that sort of thing at the slightest nod.

"I mourned his loss for a half-day, hoping he would stray back, and then went downtown and put an ad in the paper. The next morning, going out to the front steps to get the paper, I met with a surprise as sudden as it was pleasing.

"There stood my dog with the paper in his mouth, bringing it up the steps the paper containing the notice advertising his loss!"

THE WISE TAILOR

From Harper's Weekly.

"But look here, Snip," said Slowpay, "you haven't put any pockets in these trousers. What's the matter with you?"

"Why, Mr. Slowpay," replied the man of clothes, "I was going to suggest that in case you ever had anything to put into them you send it on to us to keep for you."

Romanoff Caviar

To insure the success of your dinner serve Romanoff Caviar as the first course.

It will prepare your guests for the delightful meal to follow.

Romanoff is the roe of selected Caspian Sea Sturgeon and has a fine flavor that delights the epicure.

It is served at the courts of Europe, the leading hotels and clubs of Europe and America.

You won't be satisfied with other caviar after you've tasted Romanoff Caviar.

It hasn't the salty taste which usually characterizes caviar.

Romanoff is put up in two ways, unsalted in glass jars and slightly salted in tins.

You don't know caviar if you don't know Romanoff.
